Reading Comprehension (4 marks)

Read the following passage then answer the questions:

Being honest means always telling the truth, even when it is difficult. When people know you are honest, they trust you more. For example, if you break something by accident and admit it, your parents will appreciate your honesty. They will know they can rely on you. Honest people also feel good about themselves because they have nothing to hide.

Being helpful is just as important. Helping others, like carrying heavy bags for a teacher or sharing supplies with a classmate, makes everyone feel good. Small acts of kindness strengthen friendships and create a happy environment. When you help someone, they often want to help you back. A classroom where students are honest and helpful becomes a wonderful place where everyone feels safe and respected.
