VI. Reading Comprehension (120 Marks)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions below:

Newspapers contain news, information and advertising, and are printed on low-cost paper. They can be daily or weekly, national or local. Newspapers began about five hundred years ago- the first ones were in Germany. In those days newspapers were handwritten and used to be passed from person to person. But they were not very different from today. They had information about wars, economic conditions, social customs and human-interest features. Newspapers used to be very expensive. Poor people could not afford them. But in the 1800s printing became cheaper and ordinary people could afford to buy them. The oldest newspaper still in existence was first published in Australia in 1703.The oldest newspaper in the Arab world is Al-Ahram, which started in 1876.

People who write articles for a newspaper are called "journalists". But no newspaper can afford to send journalists to report on all events, so they buy stories from news agencies around the world. And no newspaper has room for all the stories that happen every day. So, the news editor holds meetings where they decide what stories to publish. They also decide where the photos and advertisements will go.

These days, newspapers are cheap because half the cost is paid for by advertising. A lot of people used to read a paper every day. But today fewer people are reading than before. Instead, they go online and get their news from newspaper websites. So, in the future newspapers may put all the freshest news online and the printed newspapers will only have articles with opinions and comments.

A- Choose the suitable answer from a, b ,c and d: ( 6x10=60 Marks)

Reading Comprehension ( 80 marks )

A. Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Floods are second only to fire as the most common of all natural disasters. They occur almost everywhere in the world, resulting in widespread damage and even death. Consequently, scientists have long tried to perfect their ability to predict floods. So far, the best that scientists can do is to recognize the potential for flooding in certain conditions. There are a number of conditions, from deep snow on the ground to human error, that cause flooding.

When deep snow melts, it creates a large amount of water. Although deep snow alone rarely causes floods, when it occurs together with heavy rain and sudden warmer weather it can lead to serious flooding. If there is a fast snow melt on top of frozen or very wet ground, flooding is more likely to occur than when the ground is not frozen. Frozen ground or ground that is very wet and already saturated with water cannot absorb the additional water created by the melting snow. Melting snow also contributes to high water levels in rivers and streams. Whenever rivers are already at their full capacity of water, heavy rains will result in the rivers overflowing and flooding the surrounding land.

Rivers that are covered in ice can also lead to flooding. When ice begins to melt, the surface of the ice cracks and breaks into large pieces. These pieces of ice move and float down the river. They can form a dam in the river, causing the water behind the dam to rise and flood the land upstream. If the dam breaks suddenly, then the large amount of water held behind the dam can flood the areas downstream too.

Unleashed dam water can travel tens of kilometers, cover the ground in meters of mud and debris, and drown and crush every thing and creature in their path. Although scientists cannot always predict exactly when floods will occur, they do know a great deal about when floods are likely, or probably, going to occur. Deep snow, ice-covered rivers, and weak dams are all strong conditions for potential flooding. Hopefully, this knowledge of why floods happen can help us reduce the damage they cause.

A. From a, b and c, choose the correct answer: (6 X 10 = 60 Marks)

27)The best title for the passage is:
a. Scientific Researches b. Melting Snow c. Natural Disasters d. Causes of Flood

28)The underlined word "unleashed" in paragraph 4 means:
a. released b. enclosed c. astonished d. alarmed

29)The underlined word "their" in paragraph 2 refers to:
a. levels b. streams c. floods d. rivers

30)The most common natural disaster is:
a. storms b. snow c. fire d. floods

31)The following statements are TRUE except:
a. Deep snow with heavy rains and sudden warm temperature can cause flooding.
b. Saturated ground contributes to flooding because the ground cannot absorb water.
c. Saturated ground contributes to flooding because the ground is too hard, so the water runs off.
d. Large amount of water held behind dams can flood areas downstream.

32)The writer's main purpose of writing this passage is to:

a. inform the readers of what causes floods to help us reduce future damage.

b. suggest solutions to resist natural disasters.

c. compare floods with other natural disasters.

d. persuade the readers that rivers are not a real cause of floods.

B- Productive Questions. Answer the following questions? ( 2 X 10 = 20 marks)

VII. Summary Making (60 Marks)

Read the following passage, then do as required:

Indoor air pollution is almost always worse than outside pollution. This is true even in buildings that are close to factories that produce chemicals. Better ventilation – a system for moving fresh air – can cut indoor pollution to a safe level, but lack of ventilation is seldom the main cause of the problem. Experts have found that buildings create their own pollution. Imagine a typical home. The people who live there burn oil, wood, or gas for cooking and heating. They use products made of plastic; these products give off chemicals that we can't see but that we do breathe in. And in many areas, the ground under the building might send a dangerous gas into the home. The people in the house are breathing in a "chemical soup".

In FOUR sentences, summarize and paraphrase the previous passage in an answer to the following question: (4X15=60 Marks) What are the things that cause indoor pollution?

Lack of ventilation is one of the reasons of indoor pollution. Also, people inside the house burn oil, wood, or gas for cooking cause pollution. Plastic products produce unseen dangerous chemicals and gases that we breathe.
