In south America many different birds and animals have lost their homes in forests because thousands of trees have been cut down or burnt. We even used farming lands for building roads and houses.

Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

A long , long time ago , sailors told tales about a ship being attacked by a giant, sea monster during one stormy night. The sea monster wrapped its long arms around the ship and tried to bring it down to the deep sea. Nobody on board survived, and the ship simply vanished! What was this horrifying sea monster? We believe that octopuses or giant squids might have stirred someone's imagination to create this imaginary beast!

There are over 150 different species of octopuses in the world. They all live in the ocean. Octopuses are not fish. They belong to the family called mollusk. Other family members include squids, cuttlefish, snails, oysters, clams and slugs.

Octopuses have very soft, flexible, bag-like bodies that we often mistake as their heads. Each of their eight arms has rows of suction cups that can keep a good grip on any object or surface. What happens if octopuses lose one of their arms? Well, they will just grow a new one!

Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

The zoo is one of the most interesting places in Kuwait. A zoo is a place where we can see animals from different countries. Some people don't like zoos. They think it is cruel to keep animals in cages. Other people think that if the cage is large, the animals are not unhappy. The animals have good food every day and if they are ill, they are given medicine. They do not have to worry about animals. Small animals are safe.

Large animals like tigers, lions and elephants are unhappy in cages because they are used to live in wide open spaces.
