VI. Reading Comprehension (30 Marks)

Read the following Passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Think of somebody you really admire. Then, read their biography, you will probably find that their success didn't come easily. Many famous artists, writers, sportspeople, and scientists overcame difficulties in their childhood. Sometimes, their success was a surprise, even to themselves. The famous scientist Alexander Fleming said, "When I woke up on 28th September 1928, I didn't plan to revolutionise all medicine by discovering the world's first antibiotic or bacteria killer. But that was exactly what I did." Another scientist, Thomas Edison, the inventor of the light bulb, believed that every failure was a step towards success. He said, "If I didn't succeed 10,000 times, I haven't failed, because every wrong attempt is another step forward."

Stephen King, the American author of many science fiction books, didn't have instant success. In fact, it took him many years of hard work, and he was about to give up when he finally found success. His first book, Carrie, was rejected 30 times and he threw it into the rubbish bin. His wife took it out of the bin and encouraged him to send it to other publishers. Finally, it was accepted and it became a huge success. Stephen King went on to sell hundreds of millions of copies of his books.

Some people only become successful after their deaths. One of the artists, Van Gogh, only sold one painting in his lifetime and that was to a friend. Despite this, he kept painting and he painted more than 2,000 works of art in a decade. Now, his paintings are very popular and they were sold for millions of pounds. Michael Jordan, the world's most famous basketball player, was rejected by his high school basketball team. He said, "I can accept failure, everyone fails at something. But I can't accept not trying." After high school, he went on to win the NBA's Most Valuable Player Award five times.

I leave you with this famous quote from Michael Jordan: "I've missed more than 9,000 shots in my career. I've lost almost 300 games. 26 times I've been trusted to take the game-winning shot and missed. I've failed over and over and over again in my life, and that is why I succeeded." One thing all successful people have in common is determination to reach their goal no matter what.

A) From a, b, c or d, choose the most correct answer: (5 × 3 = 15 Marks)

Any reasonable answer related to the passage is to be accepted.

VII- Summary Making (8 Marks)

Read the following, then do as required:

A good neighbourhood is built on shared manners that make it friendly. This means that people need to take some simple but important actions to make such a neighbourhood. One important action is to greet neighbours with a warm smile and a kind word whenever you see them. Another action is to avoid making too much noise, especially in the early mornings or late evenings. Neighbours also appreciate it when others offer them help. Finally, keeping shared spaces clean is very important. Altogether, these simple actions truly help create a strong and friendly neighbourhood for everyone.

In a paragraph of FOUR statements ONLY, summarise and paraphrase the passage in answer to the following question:

What are the simple actions that help create a friendly neighbourhood?
