Turtles are one of the oldest animals in the world. They can live for about 150 years. You can find them living almost anywhere. There are two main types of turtles, sea turtles and land turtles. The largest turtle in the world is the leatherback sea turtle, which can weigh over 900kg.

Turtles are special animals! They can live in land and in the sea. The temperature of their body changes based on how hot or cold it is outside. Turtles have a hard shell covering their bodies. They are able to hide their heads inside their shells if they feel anxious. This will keep them safe from other dangerous animals. The hard shell may makes them move slowly. They will not need to run fast from other animals if they can hide inside the shell.

You may wonder what do turtles eat? There are several types of turtles which can eat different types of food. Land turtles eat only plants such as grass and fruits. However, sea turtles eat sea animals like jellyfish and squid. Some turtles eat both meat and plants.

There is a friendly kind of fish in the sea. These are the dolphins. They are wonderful in many ways. They look after other dolphins when they are ill. They care for mothers and protect babies. Dolphins are very intelligent. They live in groups of family members. There are also stories of them helping people and sailors.

One day, a lifeguard called Rob took his daughter Nancy and her friend, Helen on a trip by boat. The two girls went swimming in the sea. Rob was about 50 meters away from the girls. All of a sudden, a big dangerous white shark appeared. A dolphin quickly swam straight to the girls' location. It dived down into the water in front of the girls. Then a group of dolphins came and swam around the girls. The dolphins made a circle around the swimmers and kept moving their tails in the water to push the shark away. The father came quickly to save the girls.

Dolphins know when it is dangerous for them and for people. They are known for helping those who are in need. The way they save humans from animal attacks is similar to mothers when they save their young children.

Children and adults are alike. They enjoy flying a kite on a windy day. However, kites are not always the bright and pretty toys we think of today. Kites started as tools for war. The Chinese flew kites around 3,000 years ago. They used them to get information and send messages.

Since then, kites have become more than just pieces of flying art. They have played significant roles in discoveries. Perhaps the best-known use of a kite was in a scientific experiment described by Benjamin Franklin in 1752. Franklin hoped to prove the connection between lightning and electricity. Another important use of kites was by the Wright brothers in the early 1900s. They used kites to test their ideas about flying, which helped them invent the world's first aeroplane.

Even now, kites are still an essential part of religious and cultural celebrations, and they have become a part of festivals around the world. The planes that allow us to travel worldwide have all descended from the simple kite. They all have the same basic idea.

Last week, I visited Sheikh Abdullah Al-Salem Cultural Centre with my friends. It is one of the world's largest museum complexes. It is located in Al-Shaab area in Hawally in Kuwait. It is 127.000 square meters. It was opened for visitors on March 14, 2018. They can stay all the day there. It is named after the late Sheikh Abdullah Al-Salem Al-Sabah who was the 11th ruler of Kuwait, the first Amir of modern Kuwait.

Sheikh Abdullah Al-Salem Cultural Centre consists of six main buildings; the Natural History Museum, the Science Museum, the Space Museum, the Arabic Islamic Science Museum, Fine Arts Centre and the Theatre. From all the museums, my favourite was the Human Body of the Science and Technology Museum. There are different sports activities in the lower section of that building. There is a 15-metre running track where you could run and compare your running with well-known people like Usain Bolt, the famous Jamaican runner who is a world record holder.

I was trying to take photos for my Instagram before it started getting dark. It took me over an hour to run through the whole museum. I needed around 3 hours per museum. It was a great day.

Water is the most important source of life on Earth. We can't live without it. Without water we would die of thirst. Three - quarters of the planet is covered by water. Most water is in oceans, seas and rivers. Water is frozen and forms ice caps at the North and South poles because it's very cold there. Then, it turns back to be fresh water when it melts in summer.

Water goes round in a process called the water cycle. Clouds in the sky contain water as a gas-water called vapour. This gas becomes liquid and falls to Earth as rain or snow. The rain brings water to seas, rivers and lakes. Water also goes into the soil then plants take it.

You need water to stay alive. Your body loses water when you breathe or sweat. You can stay for more than a week without food, but if you stay without water for three or four days you may die. Plants need water to live. We have to use water carefully. We should also use water wisely so that there will be enough of it left for our future life.

Solar energy is one of the cleanest sources of energy. It has become very popular, especially in modern countries. Solar energy is the light and the heat that is given by the sun. It can be collected and used to heat buildings and to make electricity.

Solar energy can be used to heat buildings in winter or to heat the water in pipes. This is usually done by a big machine called (The Flat Plate Collector). It should be put on the top of a building. It takes the sunlight and uses it to heat the air or water in pipes.

In addition, solar energy can be turned into electricity. This is one by (Solar Furnaces) which have mirrors that turn sunlight into electricity. Solar energy has two benefits. First, it is an endless and renewable source of energy unlike oil and coal. Second, it doesn't cause pollution like what happens when we use petrol in cars. However, the equipment that is used to collect solar energy is very expensive and coasts a lot of money.

(A) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, and d

(1) What is the best title for this passage?

- a) Dangerous Energy
- b) Making Electricity
- c) Air Pollution
- d) Power of the Sun

(2) The opposite of the underlined word (cleanest) in the 1st paragraph is :

- b) biggest
- c) dirtiest
- d) smartest

(3) The underlined word (it) in the 2nd paragraph refers to :

- a) sunlight
- b) machine
- c) building
- d) top

(4) According to the text, solar energy is good because :

- a) it uses oil to heat buildings.
- b) it is used in modern countries.
- c) it is renewable unlike coal and oil.
- d) it is very popular all around the world.

(5) According to the text, which one of the following statements is false?

- a) Solar energy is made by the heat and sunlight.
- b) Solar energy equipment does not cost a lot of money.
- c) Flat Plate Collector is used to heat the air in buildings.
- d) Solar energy is used to make electricity and heat water pipes.

(6) What is the main purpose of the writer in this text?

- a) To compare electricity to petrol.

Tea is one of the most popular drinks in the world. Tea is prepared from the leaves. Over three million of kilograms are grown yearly worldwide. They grow on high lands in India. China, Japan and Sri Lanka. Tea plants provide us with different types of tea such as black, white, yellow, and green tea.

In India, there are many tea gardens in a town called Darjeeling. Darjeeling tea is special for its fine flavour and nice taste. It's best enjoyed during the morning or early afternoon, but not in the evening because it has a lot of caffeine.

Tea plants are planted by the farmers in lines with gaps of one to two metres from one another. They grow about two-metre tall and sometimes can reach 9 metres. The leaves of the plant are about 5 centimetres long, and its colour is dark green. They usually grow in oval shape.

The tea leaves are pulled from plants three or four times a year. The leaves are put in baskets in the sun to dry for many hours, and then heated over fire. After heating, the leaves become very dry, hard and ready for drinking. They are then packed in wooden boxes and sent to the market for selling.

At the airport, as it was still early for my plane, I decided to have some coffee. I also bought a big packet of biscuits. The cafe was so busy, so I had to share a table with an old man who smiled at me. A packet of biscuits was on the table and I started to eat the first piece. Surprisingly, the old man took a piece, too. Each time I took a piece of biscuit, the old man took one. Soon, we ate all the pieces except for one piece left. The old man took it, cut it into two halves, took one half and gave me the other. I was very angry and I shouted at the old man very hard. However, the old man didn't say a word. He looked sad, then he left.

When I got on board the plane, the old man was on the same plane. I opened my handbag to take out a book as I wanted to read on the plane. I found the packet of biscuits I bought. Have you ever visited a lighthouse? Lighthouses can be symbols of many different things. For tourists, they can be interesting places to visit, and photograph. For people who love history, they are windows to the past. For sailors, they are signs of safety. Lighthouses are located along the coasts of oceans. They project a strong light that tells sailors that the land is near and warns them of dangers.

Lighthouses are built with a living part for the lighthouse keeper. He looks after the lighthouse and ensures that it is always working properly. Although it can be lonely at times, it is an important job. Lighthouse rays can be used differently to help sailors identify the lighthouse and their location. Each lighthouse has its own patterns, lengths and flashes that make it unique. Sailors can observe them and then look them up in a reference book that will tell them which lighthouse they have found.

During the day, sailors can identify lighthouses simply by their looks. Some light houses are painted in special colours. Others are known by their shapes. Many lighthouses are no longer working. They are sometimes converted into museums, educational centres, or even private homes.

Mario owns a restaurant called (A Taste of Rome). It serves Mario's famous spaghetti with meatballs. It also offers lasagna and other dishes that his mother cooked for him when he was young. It's on a busy street with no parking spaces. It has been open for five years. Now, it's a huge success. But things were not always this great.

When he first opened the restaurant, business was very slow. Mario was the only worker. He greeted guests at the door and seated them. Then he would start cooking. Each meal took about 60 minutes to prepare. Once Mario finished cooking, he would bring the food to the table. Most guests never returned, but often ordered takeaway.

Mario hoped to bring in more business. He asked customers about their opinions after each meal. Lately, the restaurant has gone through big changes based on customers' suggestions. Today, Mario's restaurant has two greeters at the front door. They welcome guests and show their seats. The kitchen has two more chefs. Now they can serve a meal in less than fifteen minutes. Lastly, it now offers free parking. This allows guests to drive right up to the door.

Penguins are special birds. Though they have wings and feathers, they cannot fly. Penguins get around by sprinting on their large feet. These feet help make them good swimmers. Penguins also get around by sliding across snow and ice on their large tummies. Most penguins live in cold places. A thick layer of fat and their oily feathers help them stay warm. Not all penguins live in cold places, but some live on warm islands.

Penguins eat fish or shrimps. Most of them are black and white, but some types have other colours. They might have yellow or orange feathers on their heads and faces. Some have blue feathers. These fun birds come in all shapes and sizes. Some are short, less than 30 centimetres tall. Others can reach 122 centimetres tall. Smaller penguins can weigh one or two kilograms, while the large ones can weigh almost 45 kilograms.

Some penguins can live up to thirty years! Some live only five or six years. Like other birds, penguins lay eggs. The males keep the eggs warm until it is time for the eggs to hatch. Penguins travel in large groups called colonies. Inside the colony, the penguins live together as a family. This makes them very special birds.

Water is the most important source of life on Earth. We can't live without it. Without water we would die of thirst. Three - quarters of the planet is covered by water. Most water is in oceans, seas and rivers. Water is frozen and forms ice caps at the North and South poles because it's very cold there. Then, it turns back to be fresh water when it melts in summer.

Water goes round in a process called the water cycle. Clouds in the sky contain water as a gas-water called vapour. This gas becomes liquid and falls to Earth as rain or snow. The rain brings water to seas, rivers and lakes. Water also goes into the soil then plants take it.

You need water to stay alive. Your body loses water when you breathe or sweat. You can stay for more than a week without food, but if you stay without water for three or four days you may die. Plants and animals need to survive in our wild world. How do they do it? There are many ways for plants and animals to live in our world.

The body or skin of some animals is similar in colour to the land around them. Some animals are brown just like the colour of trees so other animals and hunters cannot see them. Some animals can really change colours to match the place around them. Rabbits are a great example of this. Some rabbits' fur will change colours in different seasons. They are brown in the spring, summer, and autumn to match the trees. They become white in the winter when there is snow. This way the rabbit is safer from wild animals and hunters the whole year.

Plants survive in deserts, forests, and the Arctic. Desert plants collect, store, and save water for long time. Some plants have roots that get water very quickly. The water is saved in the centre of the plant. Other plants make chemicals that keep insects and animals from eating them. The poison stops the seeds of other plants from growing. It may even kill other plants that are already growing. Some plants make poisons that can kill a person. (205 words)

There was once a boy whose father one day told him that he is old enough to look after the sheep. Every day he had to take the sheep over the grass fields and watch them as they grazed to become strong sheep with thick wool. The boy was unhappy though. He wanted to run and play, not watch the boring sheep. So, he decided to have some fun instead.

He cried (Wolf! Wolf!) until all the village came running with stones to scare away the wolf before it could eat any of the sheep. Once they saw that there was no wolf, they left angrily saying the boy was wasting their time and making fun of them. The next day, the boy again cried (Wolf! Wolf!) and the villagers again rushed to chase the wolf away.

As the boy laughed at the fright he had caused, the villagers left, some angrier than others. The third day, as the boy went up a small hill, he suddenly saw a wolf attacking his sheep. He cried as hard as he could, (Wolf! Wolf! Wolf!), but the villagers thought he was trying to fool them again and did not come to rescue the sheep. Birds are a special group of animals, known for having feathers and wings. There are around 10,000 different kinds of birds worldwide. Ostriches are the largest birds and they also lay the largest eggs and have the fastest maximum running speed of 97 km/h. The most commonly eaten egg is a chicken's egg.

Some birds can fly high in the sky because they have light bones. Birds fly through the air by flapping their wings up and down. Hummingbirds can fly backwards. They are the only birds that can do so. These birds can also fly upside down when they want to run away from dangerous birds. Other birds, like the kiwi bird, cannot fly because its wings are too small. Another reason why some birds can't fly is because their bones are too heavy.

Birds are also known for being very smart. Some birds can sing at any time of the day. But most of them do their singing in the early morning as if they were chatting with one another. Other birds like parrots and parakeets can remember and repeat a lot of new words and repeat them clearly. They are known for being excellent pets!

(20) Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below

(الأحمدى (تجريبى) (2022 - 2023)

Japan is a group of islands in the south east of Asia. It is not a very big country but it has a large population. Tokyo is the capital city. The sea is important for the Japanese. They cultivate pearls in the warm water around the islands. They also grow rice and vegetables. Japan is mainly an industrial country. Some of the best products like radios, televisions, computers, cameras and cars come from Japan and they are famous all over the world. So, (Made in Japan) is a trustful label.

The Japanese are very polite and active people. They work hard. They even don't like holidays. They love flowers and they welcome their visitors warmly. Old Japanese usually wear traditional clothes called kimonos. The Japanese don't sit on chairs when they eat; they kneel on the floor. They don't use knives, forks or spoons. They use wooden chopsticks. Their favourite food is raw fish and rice. The Japanese writing is very strange. It has no alphabet as in Arabic or English. It has a system of pictures and their writing goes from top to bottom. Japan is a good model of a modern country.

- b) products
- c) islands
- d) pearls

(4) The main idea of the second paragraph is

- a) Traditions of different countries
- b) industry in Japan
- c) Different Japanese crops
- d) The customs and traditions of Japanese people

(5) All the following statements are TRUE except

- a) Japanese products are really good.
- b) Japan is an industrial country.
- c) The Japanese like holidays.
- d) Japan has a large population

(6) The purpose of the writer in this passage is

- a) Giving us information about Japan
- b) Asking us to buy Japanese cars
- c) Telling us to travel to Japan on holidays
- d) Advising us to eat Japanese food

(B) Answer the following questions

(7) According to the passage, how do the Japanese eat their food?

(8) What would happen if the water around the Japanese islands was cold?
