

Unit 4

Lesson 7

Coursebook p.51

Workbook p.50

Learning Objectives

LEARN NEW WORDS RELATED TO ECONOMICS

LISTEN AND IDENTIFY THE MAIN POINTS IN SIMPLE, EXTENDED TEXTS ON ECONOMICS

READ AND IDENTIFY SPECIFIC INFORMATION IN SIMPLE, EXTENDED TEXTS

https://wordwall.net/resource/36474943/english/11-general-unit-4-lessons-7-8-match-the-countries-to

Match the Countries to their Currencies

Coursebook page 44

Lessons 9–10 Currencies of the world

- Which currencies of the world do you know?
- Write the name of the country next to the correct currency in the chart.

Japan	Great Britain	China	Mexico
India	United States	Turkey	Germany

Country	Currency
Brazil	Real
China	Yuan Renminbi
Germany	Euro
India	Rupee
Great Britain	Pound Sterling
Japan	Yen
Mexico	Peso
Turkey	Lira
United States	Dollar

Listening C 21st 27

1 Listen to Financial Report. For each graph, name the financial market being described.

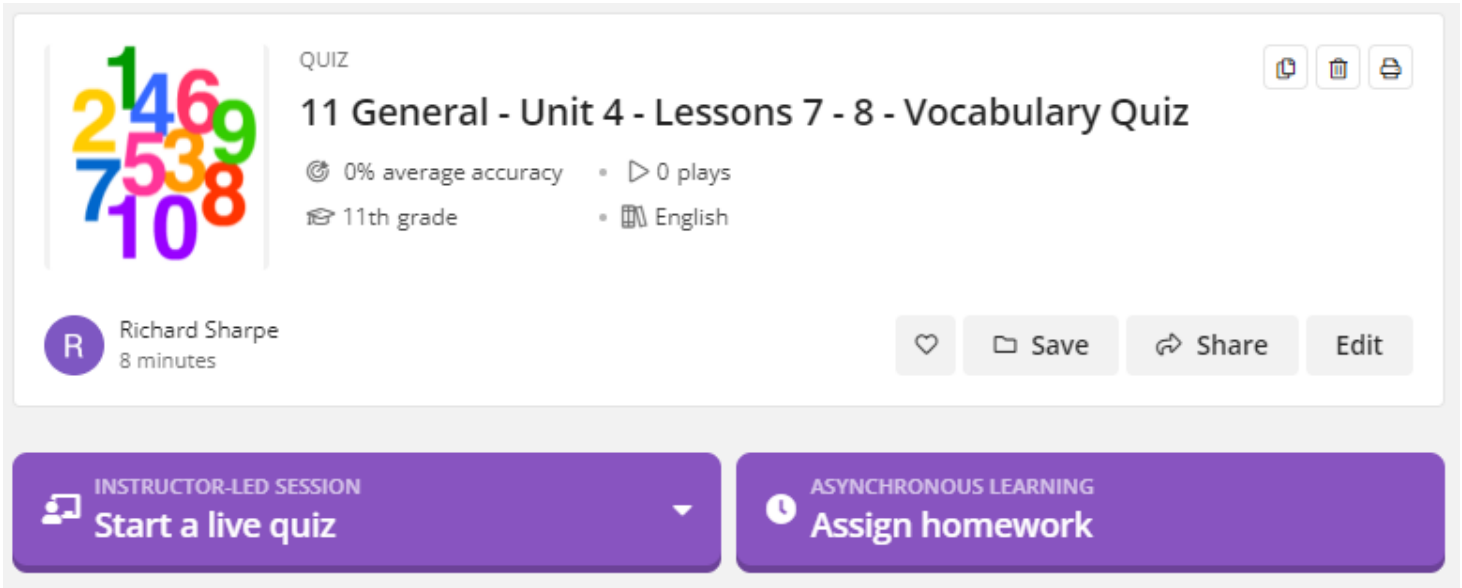

New Vocabulary

- currency
- figure
- quantity
- boost
- peak
- decline
- sharp rise
- market

https://quizlet.com/637123859/currencies-around-the-world-flash-cards/

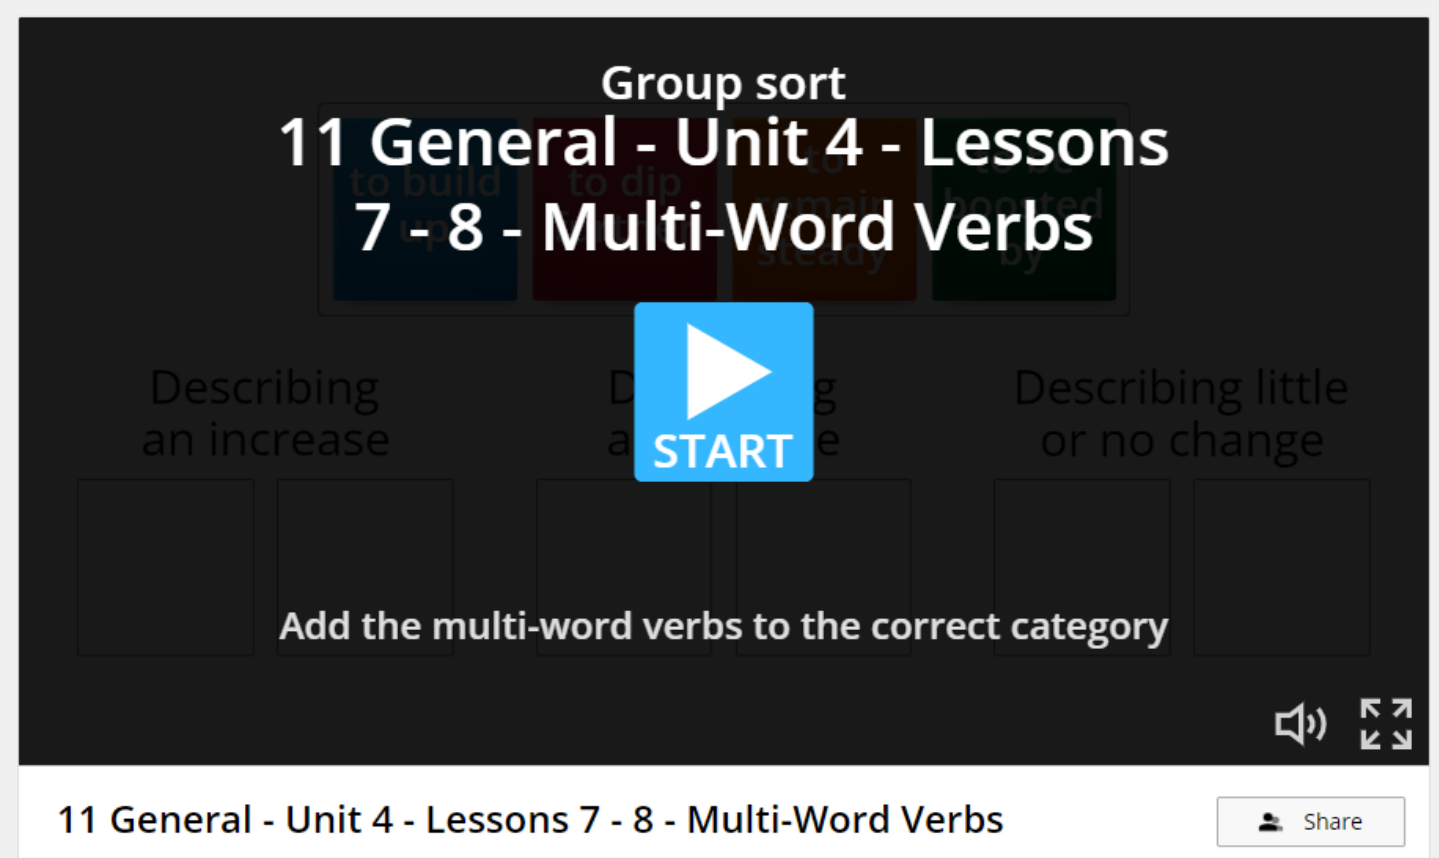

Vocabulary Quiz

https://quizizz.com/admin/quiz/634306d8e78af6001d7a1700/11-general-unit-4-lessons-7-8-vocabulary-quiz?selfCreated=true

https://wordwall.net/resource/36475194/english/11-general-unit-4-lessons-7-8-multi-word-verbs

Add the multi-words verbs to the correct category

Lessons 9–10 Currencies of the world

1 Add the multi-word verbs below to the correct category.

to be boosted by to build up to dip further to hover around to push up to remain steady to settle back down to shave off to slide down

Describing an increase	Describing a decrease	Describing little or no change
to build up to be boosted by to build up to push up	to dip further	to hover around to remain steady

Workbook page 50

01

Describing an increase: to be boosted by, to build up, to push up

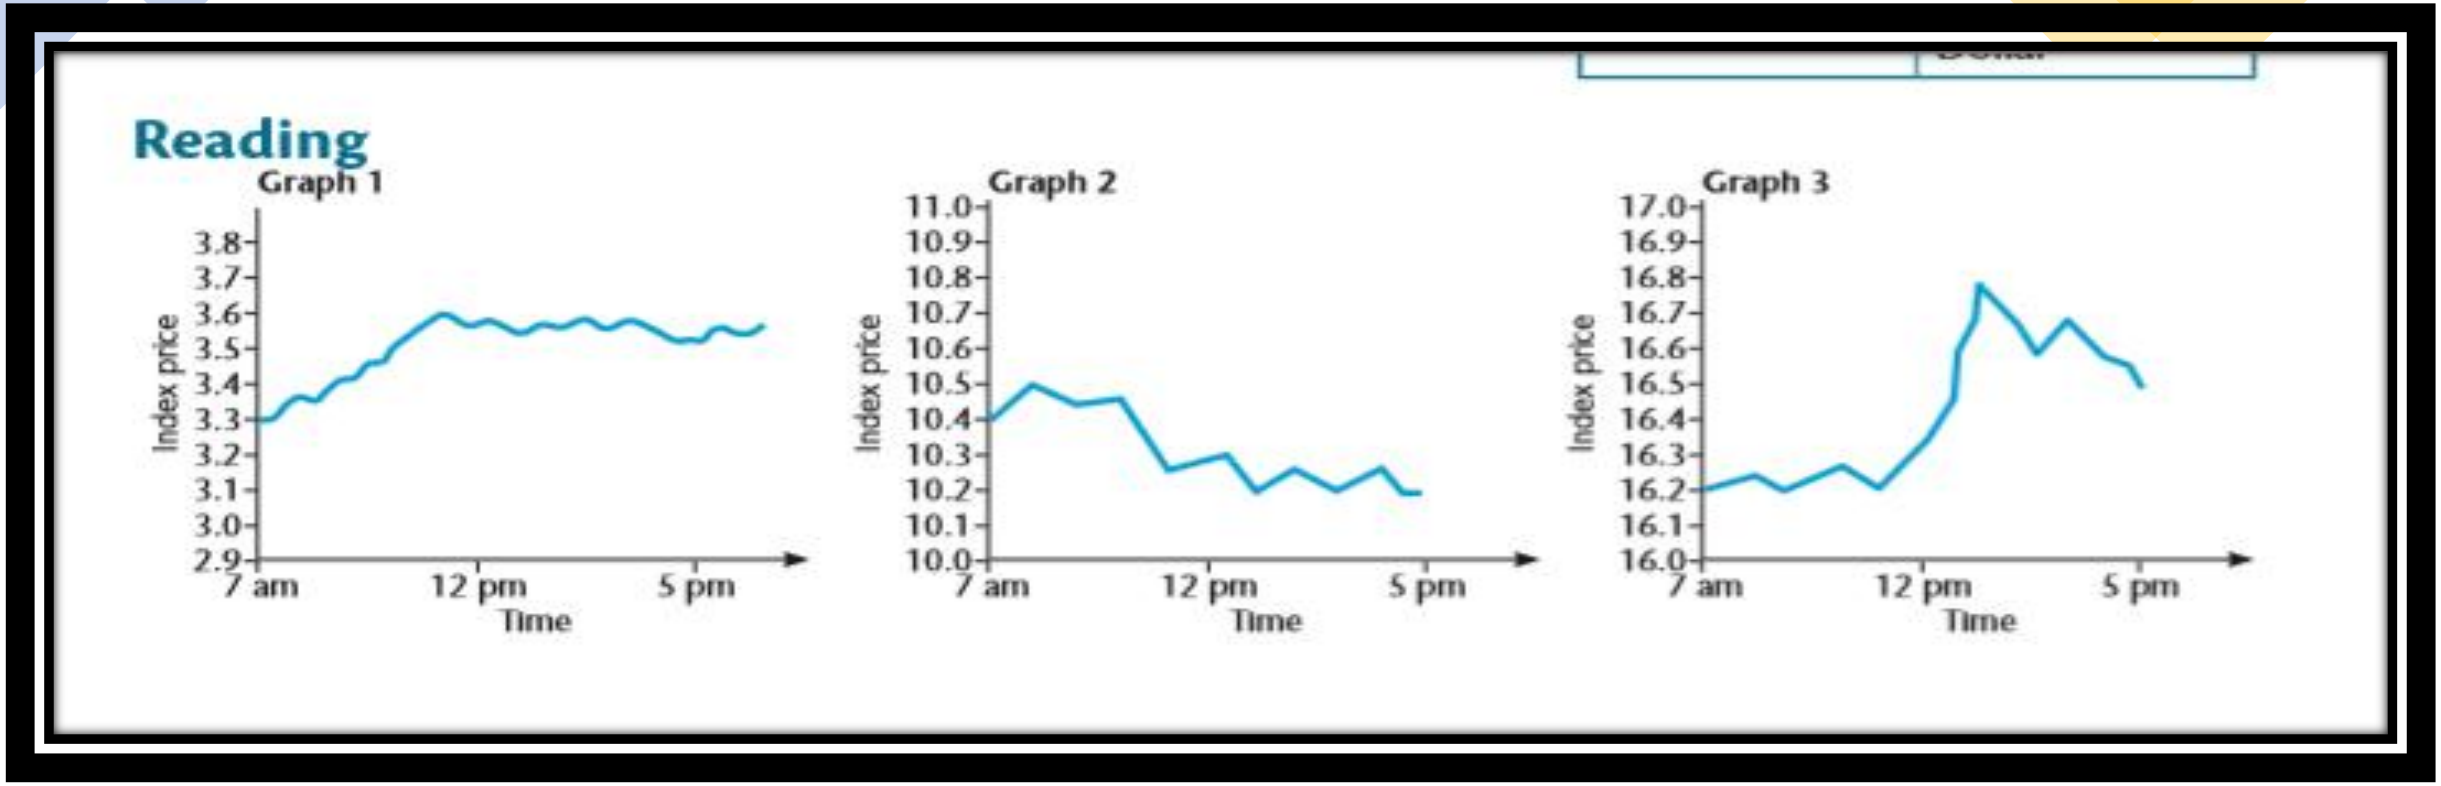

02

Describing a decrease: to dip further, to settle back down, to shave off, to slide down

03

Describing little or no change: to hover around, to remain steady

Name the financial market for each graph (Dubai, New York, Tokyo)

Coursebook page 44

Graph 1: Dubai (good news about green technology investment)

Graph 2: New York (investigation into Mega corp Industries)

Graph 3: Tokyo (strong sales in automobile industry

What do these words mean?

- shares
- stock prices.

- What is a share?
- Capital of a company is divided into units or parts of equal amount. Every unit/part is called a share.

Stocks are an investment that allows you to own a portion of a public corporation

Course Book p. 44

The Dubai International Finance Centre
The Dubai International Financial Centre (DIFC) is famous for its distinctive gate design. But more than just an iconic building, it's part of the success story that is turning the UAE into a global hub for finance and commerce. We talked to two people who work at the Dubai Stock Exchange to find out what goes on behind the glass facades of the offices and retail spaces.

Toshihiko Matsui, Senior Manager at Mizo Bank
The first thing that you notice about the financial market in Dubai is just how international it has become. There are now over 1500 registered companies in DIFC from over 42 countries. Around 20 000 people work here in sectors such as banking, financial services, real estate and telecommunications. Because it is a place of international business, we are able to make deals in all the major currencies of the world: the US dollar, the Euro, the Japanese Yen and the Chinese Yuan. In 2015, there was an 18% rise in companies registered at DIFC and, increasingly, it's Chinese businesses who want a piece of a market that's worth 1.5 trillion dollars. In fact, there's actually a waiting list of companies from the Far East who want to set up here. People sometimes ask me: what's the secret of Dubai's success as a financial market? I'd say that it's perfectly positioned between New York, London and Frankfurt in the West and Singapore, Tokyo and Shanghai in the East. It's just a great place to do business!

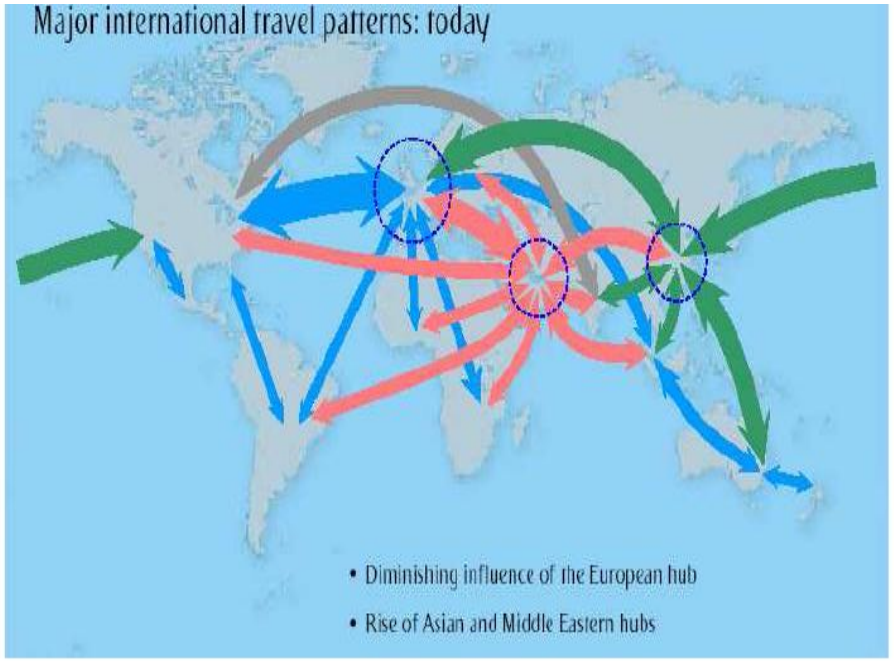

Mariam Haza, Arabian Gulf Correspondent for the Financial Times
As a journalist, I have been covering the rapid growth of the UAE as a financial capital for the last ten years, but I think that the real story is still to be told. Even though oil prices have dipped, in Dubai we are gearing up for an exciting future. The next phase of expansion of DIFC has already started. It's called The Spine and is a AED 350 million development which will link to the Gate complex. The DIFC has established what it has called its 'South-South strategy' which will focus on linking financial business in the Middle East to South Asia. Currently, Asian business represents only about 11% of the DIFC total. If we can pull this off, it means that by 2024, there will be over 50 000 people employed in the financial sector in the UAE. When you think that financial services account for around 12% of the UAE's economy today, you can understand why the Dubai International Financial Centre is so important to ensuring future growth.

Listening 28

4 Listen and complete the sentences with the numbers below. There are two extra numbers.

Speaking tip
When talking about graphs, it is best to describe the trends using adjectives and

Read then find the main idea for the text

source: Emirates 2007

The Dubai International Finance Centre

The Dubai International Financial Centre (DIFC) is famous for its distinctive gate design. But more than just an iconic building, it's part of the success story that is turning the UAE into a global hub for finance and commerce. We talked to two people who work at the Dubai Stock Exchange to find out what goes on behind the glass facades of the offices and retail spaces.

Unit 4
Lesson 8
Coursebook p.52
Workbook p.51

Learning Objectives

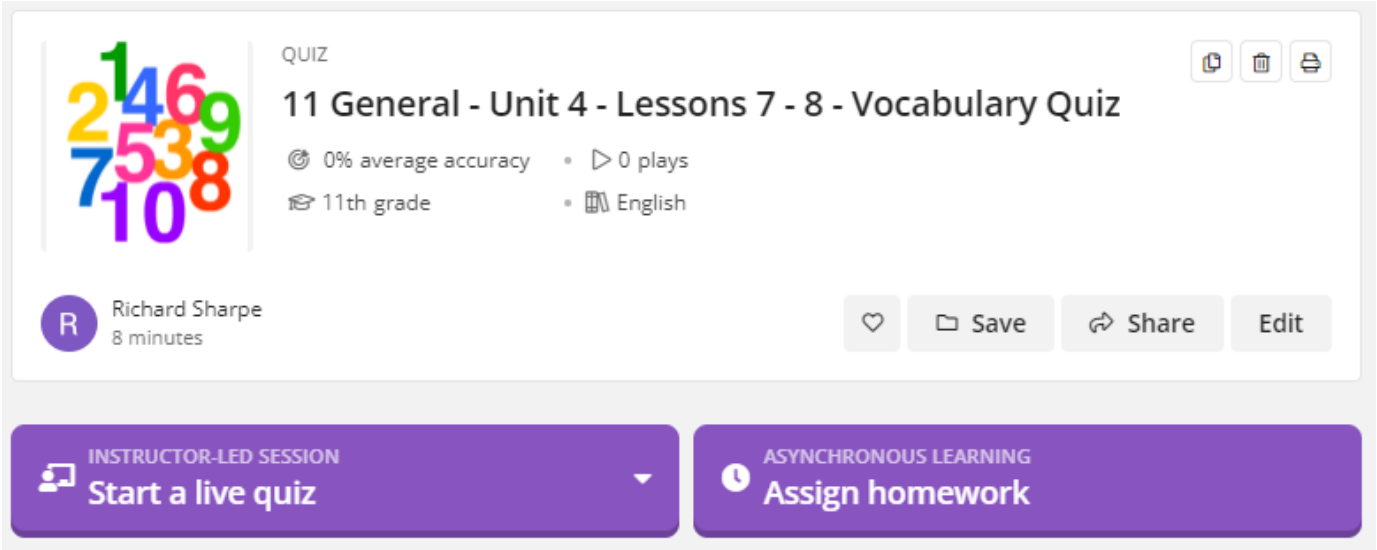

READ AND IDENTIFY SPECIFIC INFORMATION IN SIMPLE, EXTENDED TEXTS

USAGE OF NEW VOCABULARY

NUMBER MATCHING & PRONUNCIATION

STARTER

https://quizizz.com/admin/quiz/634306d8e78af6001d7a1700/11-general-unit-4-lessons-7-8-vocabulary-quiz?selfCreated=true

Toshihiko Matsui, Senior Manager at Mizo Bank

The first thing that you notice about the financial market in Dubai is just how international it has become. There are now over 1500 registered companies in DIFC from over 42 countries. Around 20000 people work here in sectors such as banking, financial services, real estate and telecommunications. Because it is a place of international business, we are able to make deals in all the major currencies of the world: the US dollar, the Euro, the Japanese Yen and the Chinese Yuan. In 2015, there was an 18% rise in companies registered at DIFC and, increasingly, it's Chinese businesses who want a piece of a market that's worth 1.5 trillion dollars. In fact, there's actually a waiting list of companies from the Far East who want to set up here. People sometimes ask me: what's the secret of Dubai's success as a financial market?

I'd say that it's perfectly positioned between New York, London and Frankfurt in the West and Singapore, Tokyo and Shanghai in the East. It's just a great place to do business!

Read then find the main idea for the text

Read then find the main idea for the text

Mariam Haza, Arabian Gulf Correspondent for the Financial Times

As a journalist, I have been covering the rapid growth of the UAE as a financial capital for the last ten years, but I think that the real story is still to be told. Even though oil prices have dipped, in Dubai we are gearing up for an exciting future. The next phase of expansion of DIFC has already started. It's called The Spine and is a AED 350 million development which will link to the Gate complex. The DIFC has established what it has called its 'South-South strategy' which will focus on linking financial business in the Middle East to South Asia. Currently, Asian business represents only about 11% of the DIFC total. If we can pull this off, it means that by 2024, there will be over 50 000 people employed in the financial sector in the UAE. When you think that financial services account for around 12% of the UAE's economy today, you can understand why the Dubai International Financial Centre is so important to ensuring future growth.

https://wordwall.net/resource/36475355/english/11-general-unit-4-lessons-7-8-gap-fill

Vocabulary Gap Fill

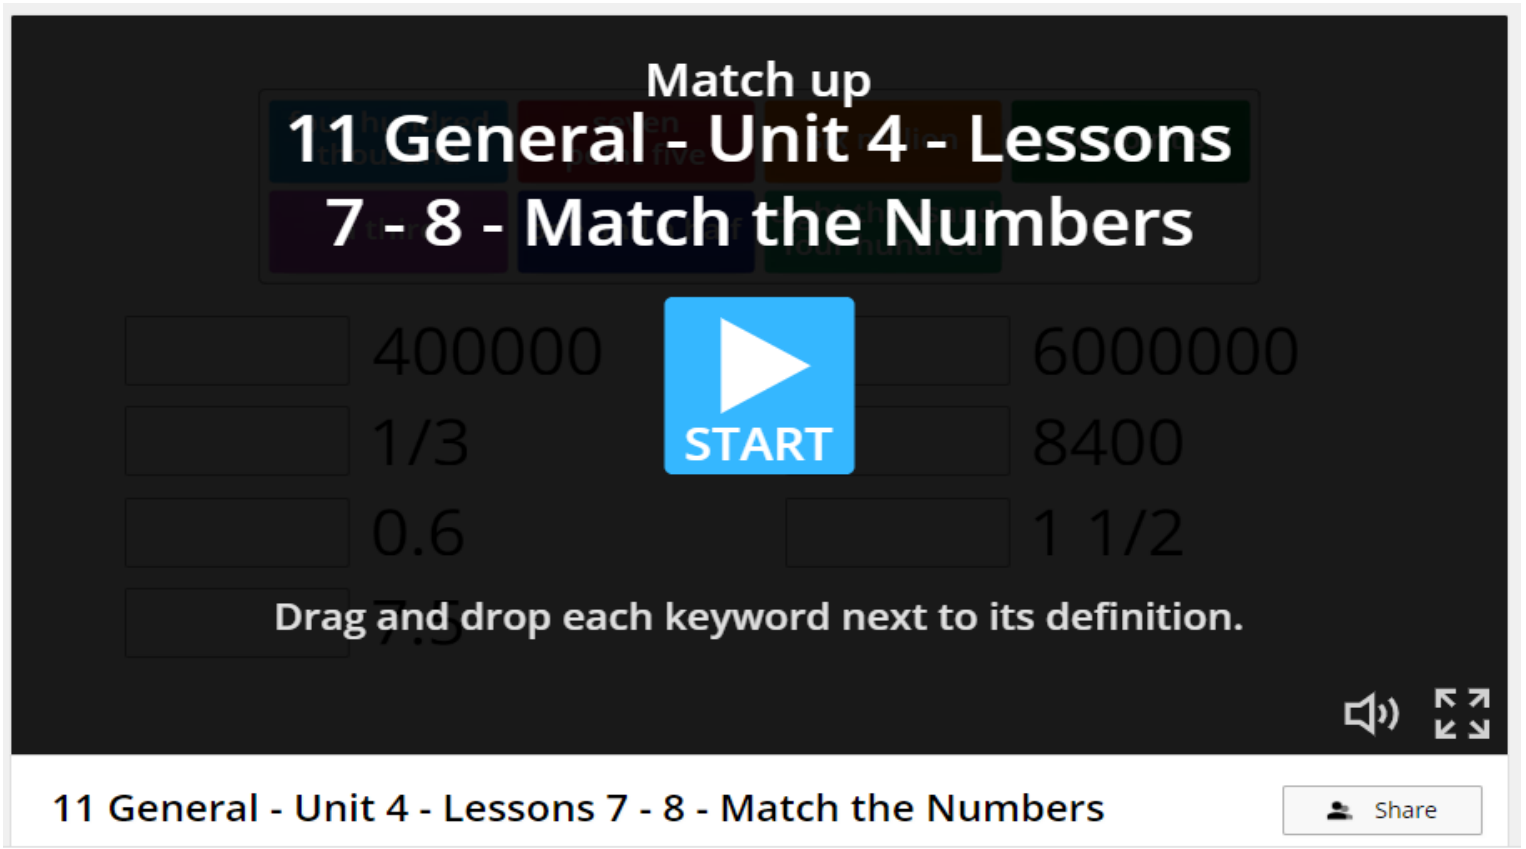

Vocabulary Gap Fill (LMS ACTIVITY)

https://wordwall.net/resource/36475667/english/11-general-unit-4-lessons-7-8-match-the-numbers

Match the Numbers

Nearpod Time

www.nearpod/student

https://np1.nearpod.com/sharePresentation.php?code=aba1feaa6a1dcb8b2b13f0adda29e13d-1