“The time has come to shift away from polluting fossil fuels and embrace the abundant, clean energy that renewable sources provide.”

Plan and write an essay of not less than 12 sentences (140 words) persuading people to use new sources of energy and suggesting effective ways to reduce the energy used nowadays.

1- Using the new sources of energy:

- being a clean source of energy
- reducing pollution
- protecting the environment
- never run out and last forever

2- Effective ways to reduce energy used nowadays:

- turning off home appliances
- sharing cars with family members
- using public transport
- replacing big cars with smaller ones

In short, let's work hand in hand to be energy superheroes and make our planet shine brighter than ever.

Topic

The time has come to shift away from polluting fossil fuels and embrace the abundant, clean energy that renewable sources provide.

Imagine a world powered by wind, water and sunshine! Instead of using oil and other fossil fuels, we can use new and clean sources of energy. Believe it or not, these energy sources can reduce pollution dramatically. In other words, we will be able to keep our environment clean and healthy. What is even better is that we will not worry if oil will come to an end one day. In conclusion, these new sources of energy are like healthy food for our planet. They won't make the air dirty and they will never run out.

Genuinely, there are some effective ways that help us reduce the energy used nowadays. First of all, we should turn off home appliances if we don't need them. For example, if it is sunny, open the windows instead of turning on the lights. Secondly, it will be a good idea if we share cars with our family members. Thirdly, we can replace our big cars with smaller ones. Furthermore, why don't we try using public transport like trains and buses?

In short, let's work hand in hand to be energy superheroes and make our planet shine brighter than ever.

Unit 8: Power of technology

Write on the following topic: (Expository)

“The world around us is transforming at an incredible pace, driven by the recent advancements that have already reshaped our lives.”

Plan and write an essay of not less than 12 sentences (140 words) stating the positive effects of modern technology and stating some modern inventions that will change our life.

1- Positive effects of modern technology:

- faster communication with other people
- offering online platforms
- easier and more comfortable life
- saving time and effort
- curing a lot of fatal diseases

2- Inventions that will change our life:

- Robots will do all the housework.
- Cars will fly and drive themselves.
- We will have smart roads.
- Phones will get smaller.
- Smart clothes will save our lives.

At the end, we can say that modern technology can shape a brighter world and change our lives to the better.

Topic

The world around us is transforming at an incredible pace, driven by the recent advancements that have already reshaped our lives.

One of the most significant positive effects of modern technology is the ease of communication. We can connect with anyone wherever they are through smartphones and the internet. Moreover, thanks to modern technology, online learning platforms empower students beyond traditional classrooms. Additionally, modern technology has made our life easier and more comfortable as it has saved our time and effort. Furthermore, in terms of medicine, it has enabled doctors to cure a lot of diseases.

In the near future, we will have a lot of modern inventions that will change our life. Robots will be doing all the housework making the life of mothers much easier. Also, we will have flying cars driving themselves along smart roads which means less traffic jams and car accidents. Furthermore, phones will get smaller and can be used to draw money. Last but not least, we will have smart clothes that can save our lives.

At the end, we can say that modern technology can shape a brighter world and change our lives to the better.

Unit 9: Money

Write on the following topic: (Expository)

“In today's world, the statement "money is important to everyone" is a mere truth. Money is a tool that can help us get what we want, but also something that needs to be handled carefully.”

Plan and write an essay of not less than 12 sentences (140 words) explaining the reasons why everyone needs money and how to spend it wisely.

1- The reasons why everyone needs money:

- making the world go round
- buying our daily needs
- enjoying better services
- offering peace of mind

2- How to use it wisely:

- avoid buying everything we need
- saving a part of our income for the future
- investing our money for long term goals
- using it to help poor and needy people

To sum it all up, I believe that money is undeniably important, but at the same time we should understand its real value.

Topic

In today's world, the statement "money is important to everyone" is a mere truth. Money is a tool that can help us get what we want, but also something that needs to be handled carefully.

It is well-known that money makes the world go round. Everyone needs money for different reasons. Firstly, it provides access to our daily needs like food, shelter, and clothing. Without it, people would struggle to survive. Secondly, money makes us enjoy better services such as healthcare and education. Furthermore, it offers peace of mind and reduces stress about the future.

However, simply having money is not enough. It is vital to spend it wisely. We shouldn't spend it on buying everything we want. We should save some of our income for the future. We should think of investing a part our money for long term goals. Lastly, we should help poor people to put an end to their problems.

To sum it all up, I believe that money is undeniably important, but at the same time we should understand its real value.

Unit 10: Stories

Write on the following topic: (Persuasive)

“It's a common observation that many young people today undervalue the role of stories in teaching manners and values.”

- knowing what is right and wrong
- getting to know other cultures

2- Life lessons we can learn from stories:

- the importance of honesty
- the value of helping others
- the benefits of hard work
- the end of good and bad deeds

To conclude, it is important to consider the good impact and the great wisdom in reading stories.

Topic

It's a common observation that many young people today undervalue the role of stories in teaching manners and values.

I strongly believe that those who don't read stories are missing a great opportunity. Let me persuade everyone that reading stories can make a big difference in our life. Firstly, stories often present moral lessons that can change the way we think. Secondly, stories can teach us what is right and what is wrong. Thirdly, they can widen and develop our imagination. Last but not least, it is a powerful tool that make us get to know a lot about other cultures.

In fact, stories can teach us valuable life lessons. By reading stories, we can learn about the importance of honesty. We, also, can understand the importance of helping others. Furthermore, stories can teach us about the value of determination and hard work. They show us that good deeds are rewarded and bad deeds are punished.

To conclude, it is important to consider the good impact and the great wisdom in reading stories.

Unit 11: Messages

Write on the following topic: (Persuasive)

“While face-to-face interaction holds value, smartphones have notably revolutionized communication, offering a superior alternative in many ways.”

Plan and write an essay of not less than 12 sentences (140 words) persuading people that smartphones are better than other types of communication and explaining its effects on our social life and relationships.

1- Smartphones are better than other types of communication:

- being a mini-computer
- making communication faster and easier
- connecting people around the globe
- offering social media platforms

2- Its effects on our social life and relationships:

- building relationships with other people
- sharing our thoughts and updates
- having a negative effect on health
- being a big waste of time

In conclusion, a smartphone is a very important part of our life. It has changed our life to the better.

Topic

While face-to-face interaction holds value, smartphones have notably revolutionized communication, offering a superior alternative in many ways.

Among the many options available, the smart phone stands out as my favorite. I personally believe that it is more than just a phone. Indeed, it is a mini-computer that fits in anyone’s pocket. This small device has made communication much easier and faster. It has a big memory that saves photos, videos and documents. Moreover, it has many social media platforms that connect me with people from all over the world.

Smartphones have improved our social lives. We can stay connected with friends and family and share our updates. Social media platforms allow us to build and maintain relationships with people across the globe. Through photos, videos, and posts, we can share our thoughts and connect with like-minded people. However, it's important to use it wisely as it can take you away from the real world. It, also, can have negative effects on your health like hurting your eyes. Sometimes, it can be a big waste of time if used for a long time.

In conclusion, a smartphone is a very important part of our life. It has changed our life to the better.

Unit 12: Flying stories

Write on the following topic: (Persuasive)

“Being a pilot is the dream of many young people.”

Plan and write an essay of about (12) sentences (140 words), persuading young people to become pilots by discussing the advantages of being a pilot and what is required to be a good pilot.

1- Persuading people of being a pilot:

- It is a prestigious job.
- You don't have to pay for tickets.
- It promotes the sense of adventure.
- You can travel around the world.

2- What is required to be a good pilot:

- dedication and hard work
- much study and training
- excellent communication skills
- mastering the English language

To conclude, I believe that being a child prodigy is something special but we should treat them normally to let them enjoy their childhood and not to feel different.

Topic

Do you dream of flying and of taking control of the vast expanse of the sky? Then the path to becoming a pilot might just be the adventure you are looking for.

I personally believe that becoming a pilot offers a unique and rewarding career path. Firstly, being a pilot is a prestigious, well-paid job. Secondly, it's a career filled with adventure. Imagine navigating through the clouds, watching breathtaking views. This can take excitement to the next level. Thirdly, if you were a pilot, you would travel around the world without paying for tickets.

Becoming a successful pilot requires more than just a passion for flying. It demands dedication and hard work. Pilots must undergo much study and training. Excellent communication skills are also important for being a successful pilot. A good pilot is also responsible and keen on other people's lives. We shouldn't forget that mastering the English language is highly needed for such a job.

To cut the long story short, if you are a young person seeking an exciting and challenging career, pursue your dream of becoming a pilot. It is truly an extraordinary job.

Best of luck
