Reading

Reading Comprehension:

Directions: Read the passage and answer the questions.

Ramadan days are special times when people come together to celebrate and share kindness. During this month, schools plan activities such as charity events, food festivals, or evening gatherings. Students like to decorate their classrooms with lanterns, crescent moons, and colorful lights. Families and teachers often prepare small meals to share after fasting, and children may bring dates or sweets to enjoy with friends.

Ramadan also teaches pupils important values. They learn patience by fasting, generosity by helping others, and cooperation by working together in school events. A fundraiser also teaches them the importance of collecting money to help support needy people.

Everyone helps during these days: teachers organize activities, parents prepare food, and community leaders guide pupils in learning about traditions. Celebrating Ramadan helps students build strong friendships and understand the joy of being part of a caring community.
