Read the text below:

Professional chocolate tasters get to eat chocolate every day at work. They usually have a degree in food science. All chocolate companies have chocolate tasters working for them. Chocolate tasters decide whether or not a chocolate is good. Sometimes they might decide the chocolate needs a different recipe. They send it back with suggestions for how to make it better. A chocolate taster's suggestion is taken very seriously. It can guide the chocolate makers in creating a better candy. Chocolate tasting isn't all fun. There are some dangers involved. Eating chocolate all day can be very unhealthy.
