B.Read the following passage then answer the questions below:

Traveling means going to a new place, either near or far away. People travel for many reasons, like vacations, visiting family, or for school trips. Getting there can be an adventure itself, whether you fly in a big airplane, ride a train, or drive in a car. The best part of traveling is seeing things you've only read about, like old castles or giant mountains. When you visit a new country, you learn about different cultures, try new and interesting foods, and hear different languages. This helps you understand that the world is much bigger than just your hometown. Traveling teaches you to be organized, too, because you have to plan what to pack, buy tickets, and find places to stay. In the end, traveling gives you wonderful memories and makes you a more open and knowledgeable person.
