Grade 8 Reading Comprehension Passages

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Omar is a kind and thoughtful student who lives in Kuwait. Last Saturday morning, he decided to do something truly different and meaningful with his weekend. Instead of spending his afternoon playing video games or watching television, he joined a local volunteer group dedicated to helping poor families in the neighborhood. They spent the entire day working hard to prepare large boxes filled with essential food items and warm clothes.

When the deliveries began, Omar felt an overwhelming sense of happiness as he saw the bright smiles appearing on the children's faces. This "small act" of kindness had a surprisingly "big impact" on his entire community. Through this experience, Omar learned that helping others is a great responsibility that brings people together. He now firmly believes that every person should volunteer their time at least once a month to support those in need.

His teacher, Mr. Ahmed, was extremely proud of his dedication and shared the story of Omar's hard work with the whole class to inspire others. Omar's journey taught him a valuable life lesson: you do not need to be wealthy to be a humanitarian. You only need a kind heart and some free time to make a difference. Now, Omar plans to start a charity club at his school to encourage other students to join him. He knows that when people work together, they can make the world a much better place for everyone to live.

A) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Many people today spend several hours every day scrolling through various social media platforms. They constantly see beautiful photos of famous people traveling to exotic places, wearing stylish clothes, and eating expensive food in luxury restaurants. However, this is often what experts call "The Unreal Life Online." It is vital to remember that people usually share only their very best moments while hiding their real-life problems and daily struggles behind the digital screen.

This constant exposure to "perfect" lives can bring a lot of hidden pressure. Some people begin to feel sad or inadequate when they compare their own ordinary lives to the filtered and staged photos they see online. We should not believe everything we see on social media, as images can be easily edited to look better than reality. While trust is important, we must also use our imagination to understand that real life is much more complex and diverse.

Connecting with friends online can be fun, but we must not let virtual interactions take over our valuable time. Real-world experiences and face-to-face meetings are far more important for our mental health than any virtual voyage. We need to focus on our actual goals and the real people who support us every day. By being careful and mindful of our internet habits, we can protect ourselves and keep our minds healthy, balanced, and happy.

A) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

1. What is the main idea of the passage?

A) How to take perfect photos
B) The truth behind social media
C) The best luxury restaurants
D) Traveling to exotic places

2. The underlined word 'this' in the 1st paragraph refers to:

A) Traveling to places
B) The perfect life shown online
C) Eating expensive food
D) Various social platforms

3. The word 'reality' in the 2nd paragraph is a synonym for:

A) Dreams
B) Actual life
C) Pictures
D) Lies

https://t.me/Aldaresenglish4qs

4. According to the text, why do some people feel sad after using social media?

A) They don't have internet B) They compare their lives to others

C) They spend too much money D) They have no friends

5. What can we understand from the phrase 'virtual interactions take over our time'?

A) People talk too much in person B) Digital life can distract from real life

C) Computers are very fast D) Friends are not important

6. The moral lesson of this text is to:

A) Focus on real goals and meetings B) Buy expensive stylish clothes

C) Believe everything you see online D) Travel to more exotic places

B) Answer the following questions:

7. What do people usually hide behind their digital screens?

8. Why is face-to-face meeting more important than a virtual voyage?

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Traveling around the world is an exciting and educational way to learn about new cultures and unique traditions. Some people travel mainly for fun and relaxation, while many others choose to go on a "Journey of Faith" to visit holy sites and religious landmarks. Every year, millions of devoted people travel from every corner of the globe to Makkah.
This journey is incredibly important for Muslims, representing a significant time for deep prayer, reflection, and thinking about the purpose of life.

During this trip, travellers meet people from hundreds of different countries. Even though they speak various languages and come from different backgrounds, they are all connected by their shared faith and common goals. They share inspiring stories and help each other overcome challenges during the long trip. This journey teaches them essential life lessons like patience, humility, and kindness toward strangers.

It is an experience that stays in their hearts and minds forever. After the trip is finished, the travellers return to their homes with many beautiful memories and a renewed sense of purpose. They often feel much stronger and more peaceful than they did before. Traveling in this way is not just about moving from one physical place to another; it is about changing your heart and mind. Discovering the world helps us understand that we are all part of one big human family.

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

In a small, quiet town, there lived a very honest shop owner named Mr. Salem. One evening, just after he had closed his shop for the day, he noticed a heavy black bag left on the floor near the counter. When he opened it to look for identification, he was surprised to see a large amount of cash and an expensive gold watch inside. Although the shop was empty, he did not think for a single second about keeping it for himself.

Mr. Salem decided to wait at the shop, hoping the owner would return. He waited patiently for two hours until a man came running back through the door, looking extremely worried and crying. When Mr. Salem showed him the bag, the man was so happy and relieved that he started laughing. The man immediately offered Mr. Salem a large sum of money as a reward for his integrity, but the shop owner kindly refused.

He told the man, "I do not need a reward for simply being an honest person." This story serves as a great example for everyone in the community. Trust is a powerful force that connects people and makes them feel safe with one another. When we choose to be honest, people respect us more. Being trustworthy is far more valuable than having all the money in the world because it makes our society stronger.

A) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

1. The main idea of this story is….

A) A lost watch
B) The value of honesty

C) Afraid
D) Angry

4. How long did Mr. Salem wait at the shop?

A) Ten minutes
B) Two hours
C) All night
D) One week

https://t.me/Aldaresenglish498

5. What does Mr. Salem's refusal of the reward show about him?

A) He is already very rich B) He doesn't like the man

C) He values principles over money D) He forgot his wallet

6. The moral of the story is that:

A) Honesty builds a stronger community B) You should always carry a watch

C) It is dangerous to close shops late D) Rewards should be very large

B) Answer the following questions:

7. What did Mr. Salem find inside the black bag?

8. In your opinion, why is trust important between people in a town?

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions that follow:

Do you want to see the Great Pyramids in Egypt or the famous museums in France without ever leaving your living room? Today, thanks to modern technology, you can! This exciting new experience is called "Virtual Tourism." By using a high-speed computer or a tablet, you can take "virtual voyages" to almost any famous landmark on Earth. It is a fantastic way to explore the world if you do not have enough money, time, or physical ability for real international trips.

Virtual tourism uses high-quality 360-degree photos and interactive videos to show you incredible sights in great detail. You can virtually move through the busy streets of London or walk through the ancient halls of a castle in Spain. Many schools now use this technology to help students learn about history and geography in a fun and engaging way. It truly makes the world feel much smaller and more connected than ever before.

However, it is important to remember that virtual tourism is not exactly the same as traveling for real. You cannot smell the fresh ocean air or taste the delicious local food online. Despite these limits, it remains a very useful tool for education and discovery. In the future, this technology will become even more realistic. It allows everyone to discover the world and learn from great examples of culture and architecture from the comfort of their own homes.
