Five eggs the size of Ping-Pong balls crack open as the tiny desert tortoises inside break through the shells, the two-inch-long babies immediately crawl off in search of flowers and grasses to eat. These animals may be newly hatched, but they already have survival skills that will allow them thrive in their harsh, sizzling-hot habitats.

2 Desert tortoises live in the deserts of the southwestern United States and northwestern Mexico. During the summer, ground temperatures in parts of their range can hit 140 F. To beat the heat, desert tortoises use their strong forearms and tough nails to dig underground burrows where they can hide from the sun. Some of these tortoise tunnels are up to 32 feet in length. And the burrows can get pretty crowded. As many as 25 desert tortoises might bunk together in one shelter.

3 The animals also dig grooves into on the ground's surface to catch rainwater. After a storm, they'll return to these holes to slurp up the water that's collected inside. Once it's had good drink, a desert tortoise can go up to a year without requiring fresh water again. The reptile stores the water it has consumed in its bladder and can later absorb the liquid when it needs to hydrate.

4 Despite sometimes hanging out in burrows together, desert tortoises are pretty solitary. And sometimes when males come across each other, they 'll fight to establish dominance. The fighting may use horns on their chests to try and knock each other over. The contest ends when one animal flips the other on its back. The losing tortoise can turn right side up by moving its body back and forth until it turns over. But after that, the tortoise knows who's boss. Sounds like a tortoise's shell isn't the only thing about it that's tough!

1 Newspaper headlines in Qatar often point out that traffic has become a serious problem in Doha! ⁽²⁾ With the large number of vehicles on the road, it takes ages to cover the shortest of distances, especially during the rush hour. ⁽³⁾ That situation may change, however, in the near future thanks to the proposed Qatar Metro Network that will connect people living in different parts of the country. ⁽⁴⁾ Metro which is an underground, or largely underground railway system, exists in cities like Paris, Bangkok and Washington, D.C.

2 The objective of the transport master plan for Qatar is to develop a reliable public transport system in the country. Also, it aims at completing a railway network that connects the entire country. The plans have been prepared by a European company and a Qatari firm, according to sources in the construction industry. The work is being supervised by Qatar's Urban Planning and Development Authority.

3 The full plan including the construction agenda and details of the contracts became available after June 2009. According to the original agenda, the project was to be completed in 2015, but this plan was completely reconsidered because the whole project is supposed to take a longer time as this kind of metro is mainly underground.

4 The Doha metro network is estimated to cost $36bn. It is planned to be built in phases and will become one of the most modern railway networks in the world. It will have four lines, namely the Red, Green, Gold and Blue metro lines, with an overall length of 300km and 98 stations. It is planned that in the first stage, the metro network will cover the 30 km stretch from Lusail megaproject to the New Doha International Airport at an estimated cost of 1.65 billion dollars.

5 Looking at the larger picture, The four lines of Doha metro will link all the major locations of the city such as the Education City and West Bay, Lusail urban development area, Doha airport, the business and conference centre, and the 2022 FIFA World Cup stadiums. The railway lines and infrastructure will be through tunnels, overhead railways and at the ground level.

1 A lot of people, especially young people, go through the day without having breakfast. Many people believe that it is not necessary, or they say that they do not have time for that and begin their day with no meal. I believe that everyone should eat breakfast before going to their activities. The purpose of this paper is to show the importance of breakfast, especially for students.

2 The first reason why you should eat breakfast before going to school is for your health. When you skip breakfast and go to school, you are looking for a disease because it is not healthy to have an empty stomach all day long. It is very important to have a meal and not let your stomach work empty. All you are going to get is gastritis and many problems with your health if you do not eat breakfast.

3 Another reason for eating breakfast is that you need food to do well in your classes. Your body and your brain are not going to function as good as they could because you have no energy and no strength. When you try to learn something and have nothing in your stomach, you are going to have a lot of trouble succeeding. Many people think that they should not eat because they are going to feel tired, but that is not true. Breakfast is not a very big meal, and on the contrary, you are going to feel tired if you do not have breakfast because you have spent the entire previous night without food.

4 The last reason to have breakfast every day is that you can avoid diseases if you eat some breakfast in the morning. If you do not eat, you are going to get sick, and these diseases will have a stronger effect on you because you are going to get sick easier than people who have breakfast every day.

5 You have to realize that breakfast is the most important meal of the day, and you cannot skip it without consequences for your health, your school and your defense mechanism. It is better to wake up earlier and have a good breakfast than run to school without eating anything. It is time for you to do something for your health, and eating breakfast is the better way to start your day.

1. What type of writing is the text?

- A. narrative B. functional C. persuasive D. argumentative

2. Which of the following reasons is not mention in the text?

- A. Escaping breakfast affects your health. B. Escaping breakfast affects your weight.
C. Escaping breakfast affects your education. D. Escaping breakfast affects your concentration.

3. What is the purpose of paragraph 4?

- A. to help students study their lessons
B. to help students catch diseases
C. to encourage students to have breakfast
D. to explain the function of liver in the body

4. What does the underlined pronoun (they) in paragraph 3 refer to?

- A. liver and nose B. body and brain
C. body and kidney D. liver and stomach

5. What is the effect of missing breakfast on your brain and body?

- A. They have more energy. B. They do their function bad.
C. They do their function good. D. The function of the brain stops.

6. As mentioned at end of the article, why is it important to get up early?

- A. to do exercises
- B. to run to school
- C. to drive your car
- D. to have your breakfast

7. What is the best title of the passage?

- A. Students should study.
- B. Students should eat breakfast.
- C. Students should avoid diseases.
- D. Students shouldn't eat breakfast.

8. According to paragraph 3, what are the benefits of having breakfast? Mention two benefits.
