Environment is the air, water, and land where people, animals and plants but it faces harmful effects caused by the actions of humans. Pollution is main reason of the problems that our environment suffer from. It causes damage to air, soil, and water. This affects all life on Earth. Pollution is caused by industries. For example, water pollution is caused by run-off from factories. The main source of pollution at sea is the oil dumped from ships. Another example is air pollution as automobiles release chemicals into the air that make it difficult for humans, animals, and plants to breathe. Air pollution has long been a source of trouble in towns. It leads to the loss of sunshine and the increase of dirt on buildings. The worst thing is that it causes a hole in the ozone layer. The celebration of Earth Day began in California, in the city of San Francisco. The world celebrates Environment Day either on the first day of spring or on April 22nd. The first Earth Day celebration was held on March , which was the first day of spring. Environment Day is important because it reminds us to stop and look at the problems of our environment, and to evaluate what we can do to prevent those problems. Most experts agree that the most serious problems affecting Earth are pollution and loss of resources. We lose our environment resources when we use them carelessly. We need to reduce the amount of things we use that harm our environment. We need to fix things and re-use them, rather than throwing them out. We need to recycle materials that are recyclable, by separating out plastic, bottles, and recyclable paper from other garbage.
