A prefix is a little word added in front of a word to change its meaning.

There are hundreds of prefixes, some of the most popular are: il - ir - im, these change the words to the opposite meaning.

When you add a prefix you don't change the root word (just add the prefix):

ir + responsible = irresponsible

* use il before words starting with l.

* use ir before words starting with r.

* use im before words starting with m, p and b.

However, like all rules there are exceptions: unless – unreal – unmarried...

4 a. Write the correct prefix of each word in the following table:

prefix	root word	new word
ir	regular	irregular
il	legible	illegible
im	possible	impossible
im	mature	immature
il	legal	illegal
ir	resistible	irresistible
im	balance	imbalance
im	perfect	imperfect
im	moral	immoral

b. Use four of the new words in meaningful sentences of your own:

- 1- We study the irregular verbs in grammar.
- 2- His writing is illegible. I can't understand it.
- 3- It was impossible to sleep because of the noise.
- 4- It is illegal to drive a car without a license.
- 5- There is a huge imbalance between the two armies.

5 Fill in the gaps with words from the list:

massive qualities conventional impress opponents

- 1- Kids always want to impress their parents.
- 2- Players should respect their opponents in the match.
- 3- A massive explosion went off, shaking the ground beneath them.
- 4- She did well in the interview, but she lacked the more essential qualities of being a journalist.

6 Choose the correct answer between brackets:

Yesterday, I saw my brother sitting sadly in his room. I asked him: "What's wrong with you?" He said that he had joined the club to learn how to (go – play – do) judo, but he was not doing well. He said: "I wish I (practised – had practised – have practised) hard last year. If I had trained well, I (will be – would have – had) represented Kuwait in the world championship."
