Reading Comprehension Summary making & Translation

The good old days?

Read the passage and then answer the questions below :

Life before electricity was hard .After the sun went down in the evening it was dark. In the streets there were gas lamps but in people's home there were no electric lights , so everyone used oil lamps , candles and firelight. In general , they went to bed earlier and got up as soon as the sun came up and they could see everything again .

In many homes there was no running water for cooking , drinking or washing. In towns there were pumps, but in the country people had to carry water from wells or streams. Because there were no machines , people had to do everything by hand. This meant that household jobs all took longer. Washing clothes , especially ,took a lot of time and energy .

Home entertainment was also different from today: they were no television to watch , no personal stereos , CD players or radios to listen to the news or your favourite music , and of course , no computer games or Internet. Families made their own entertainment : playing board games , chatting to each other and making their own music.

For dairy farmers, there were no fridges to keep their milk, cheese and butter fresh. This meant that they could not make much money because they had to sell their products soon after they were made. Some people, however , still call these times the good old days.

Invisible Power

Read the passage and answer the questions below :

For several years, countries around the world have been looking for new energy sources to replace fossil fuels. The country which makes the most use of solar power is Japan, and Holland uses more wind power than any other country. Now Britain, with its long coastline, is trying to lead the world in wave power technology.

Experts say that in the future, the sea, with its wave and tide energy, could provide enough power for the whole planet. Twenty wave farms could supply electricity to a city with the size of Edinburgh, with its population of 450,000.

Scientists are also constantly working to improve solar power technology. Although initially expensive, solar panels fitted to the roofs of houses can greatly reduce the bills households have to pay throughout the years, as the houses can take energy directly from the sun to power household appliances. As technology improves more and more things will start running from solar power.

Scientists are working on the "Wave Hub " this is a testing device, which will be located in the sea 15 Km from the south- west coast of Britain and will cover 20 square kilometers. It will produce 30- 40 megawatts of electricity every year.

One of the greatest advantages of wave farms is that they will be invisible, unlike wind farms, which are very un popular with some people who say they " spoil the countryside". However , there are some disadvantages to wave machines: the machines are just below the surface of the sea and so could be a danger to ships. In addition to this, some people think wave farms may put tourists off and could be a danger to fish. Also, the technology is not cheap: it will cost £ 50 million to produce just 15 % of Britain`s power by the year 2015. In the future, these disadvantages may be resolved, but it is certain that the world, for now, will still be relying on gas, oil, and coal energy sources.

Future Travel

If you ask people about how cars might change in the future they might say that cars will fly, go under water, or even drive themselves. Whilst these suggestions might seem outlandish, some of the ideas we have about future travel really could happen. For example, scientists have designed intelligent cars that can drive themselves and, through the use of complex sensors and computer systems, avoid danger and obstacles. This technology has already been implemented in some high-end cars. For instance, the car can adjust certain features such as suspension or engine power depending on the situation. There are also cars whose lights come on automatically and whose windscreen wipers activate if they detect rain. To summarize, our fantasy cars are becoming a reality.

Perhaps the most important innovations in travel technology are those based on engine technology. In short, by making engines more efficient and economical, we can create less pollution and save the environment. Engines are constantly being improved to go further on less fuel. For example, scientists have developed systems which allow normal car engines to run on bio- fuels, namely used vegetable oil.

After filtering and cleaning, the cooking oil that you use at home can be reused to power your family car. Using bio- fuel also helps to conserve petrol, which is in limited supply. Because vegetable oil is derived from plants it is completely renewable fuel source. In conclusion, bio- fuel engines help to save the environment by emitting far less pollution than traditional car engines and by reducing wasted oil.

4.philanthropic	(of a person or organization)Donating money to goods causes and promoting the welfare of those in need
5.tax return	A form used to calculate the amount of tax owed

Warren Buffett Philanthropic billionaire

Warren Buffett was born on 30th August, 1930 in Omaha, Nebraska. Buffett submitted his first tax return at the age of 13, asking for a tax refund of $35 for the bike he used during his paper round. At the age of 15 he bought a used pinball machine for $ 25 and placed it inside a barber shop. Within 3 month he owned three other pinball machines in different locations.

Buffett made most of his fortune from investing in undervalued stocks of companies, buying them at prices which he thought were below their true value. In this way Buffett was eventually able to amass a fortune estimated at over $60 billion. At the start of 2008 Buffett became the richest man in the world, knocking Bill Gates from the position he had held for the last 15 years.

Despite his immense business wealth Buffett lives a relatively modest life. He still lives in the same house that he bought in 1958, and has an annual salary of $ 100,000, a figure substantially lower than many other business leaders. It has been estimated that Buffett spends approximately $ 50,000 a year, on himself and his family, and chooses not to accumulate extravagant possessions. He has also said that it would be foolish to allow his children to inherit too much money, instead suggesting that they should inherit enough money to do anything, but not enough to do nothing.

Instead, Buffett is giving most of his fortune to charity. In 2006, he announced that he would donate$ 37 billion in shares to charity, giving 5% of his total donation each year. However, because he is donating shares the total value of his donation is hard to determine the shares fluctuate in value. As their current value his donation is the biggest, most generous charitable gift in history. (306 words)

Reading comprehension Summary making & Translation

Read the story and check your answers:

A business man was on holiday in a little fishing village on the coast. As he was looking at the sea, a small boat with a fisherman came slowly into the port. In the boat with the fisherman were several large fish. The businessman started talking to the fisherman.

“Great fish!” he said. “How long did it take you to catch them?”

“Not very long”, the fisherman replied. “Why don’t you stay at sea longer and catch more fish?” asked the businessman. “Because I’ve got enough fish for my family”, replied the fisherman.

“How do you spend the rest of your time?” asked the businessman.

The fisherman said, "I sleep late, fish a little, play with my children, and talk to my wife. In the evening, I walk to the village, have some tea with my friends and play chess. I have a very busy life".

The businessman smiled, "I am a businessman," he said firmly. "I can help you. If you spend more time fishing, you will have more money and you will be able to buy a bigger boat. If you had a bigger boat, you would catch more fish and you could buy another boat. Eventually you would have a fleet of boats. You would have so many fish, you could open your own fish market. Then you could leave this village and move to the city and live like a rich businessman."

"But how long will this take?" the fisherman asked.

"Fifteen or twenty years" replied the businessman.

"And what then?" asked the fisherman.

The businessman chuckled, "that's the best part," he said. "When the time is right, you could sell your company and become very wealthy, may be a millionaire."

"Me a millionaire?" said the fisherman. "Then what?"

The businessman said, "Then you could retire. Move to a small fishing village where you could sleep late, fish a little, play with your grandchildren and talk to your wife. In the evening, you could walk to the village, have some tea with your friends and play chess."

Crossing the border

A man was hurry across the US-Mexican border on his bicycle when suddenly he was stopped by a guard .The guard pointed to two bags on the man's back , and asked suspiciously 'What's in the bags?'

'Sand,' said the cyclist politely.

'Get them off-we'll have a look , 'said the guard rudely. The cyclist took the bags off his back calmly and emptied them to show that they held only sand. Then he re-loaded the bags carefully ,put them on his shoulders and continued to cycle across the border.

The next week , the same thing happened. Again the guard demanded to see the two bags, which again contained nothing but sand. This went on every week for six months ,until one day the cyclist did not appear.

A few days later , the guard happened to meet the cyclist in the town.' Say friend , can you tell me something ?' asked the guard curiously ' We know you were secretly smuggling something across the border, but we didn't know what. What were you smuggling?'

'Bicycles!' replied the man cheerfully .

Reading Comprehension , Summary Making & Translation Page (85)

Pigeons have carried messages for humans over 5,000 years. The Egyptians were probably the first to use them in 3000 BCE. Between 770 BCE and 390 BCE, the Greeks used them to carry news of the early Olympic Games. The first regular pigeon post service was in 1146 CE when the Caliph used pigeons to carry mail all over the Arab world. In the Mamluk period in Egypt, there were thousands of pigeons in the postal service. In more recent times, pigeons have been used in wartime to send military reports back to leaders when it was too dangerous or impossible to use normal postal services. During the First World War, 20,000 pigeons were killed, and 30 British pigeons were given medals for bravery. Pigeons have even been used to smuggle diamonds illegally out of South Africa.

Pigeons are unique birds. A healthy pigeon can live for 15-20 years and can travel up to 1,000 km in one flight. Most important of all, pigeons have a natural instinct to fly back to their nests or homes from whenever they are. This is why they are sometimes called homing pigeons. This ability makes them perfect for carrying messages over long distances. They are trained and fed in one area, then taken to other areas where they are used when someone wants to send a message to their homes. Normally messages were written on light paper and then fastened to the feet of the pigeon. When they are released they always return home. There are even boomerang pigeons which are trained to deliver one message and return with another.

A SIM card or Subscriber Identity Module is a portable memory chip. The SIM card makes it easy to switch to a new phone by simply sliding the SIM card out of phone and into another. The SIM holds personal identity information, our phone book, text messages, photos and other data. It can be thought as a mini hard disk that automatically activates the phone into which it is inserted. A SIM card can come very handy. For example, when your phone runs out of battery power at a friend's house. Also, if you upgrade your phone there's no hassle involved. Just slide it into the new phone and you're good to go. You must unlock the phone first, however, and operate on the carrier's frequency or band. This is great for international travellers.

When 10-year-old Amelia Earhart saw her first plane at a local fair, she was not impressed." It was a thing of rusty wire and wood....not at all interesting", she said. Nevertheless, it was Earhart's destiny to become a female pioneer in aviation, and her tragic fate still remains one of air travel's greatest mysteries.

Earhart took her first flying lesson on January 3, 1921, a ride that changed her life. "By the time I had got two or three hundred metres off the ground," she said, I knew I had to fly". In six months she saved enough money to buy her first plane, a bright yellow biplane she named ' Canary'. In October 1922, Earhart used it to set her first women's record by rising to an altitude of 4,300 metres. Although Earhart's convictions were strong, challenging prejudicial and financial obstacles awaited her.

Eventually, in 1928, Earhart joined a team of male pilots to fly across the Atlantic. The team left Newfoundland on June 17, 1928, and arrived in Wales, approximately 21 hours later. Their landmark flight made headlines worldwide, and when the crew returned home they were greeted with parade. From then on, Earhart as determined to complete her own solo Atlantic crossing, a feat that took many years o plan.

On May 20, 1932, she started the trek from Newfoundland to Paris. Strong winds, icy conditions and mechanical problems plagued the flight and forced her to land in a small pasture in Ireland. "after scaring most of the cows in the neighbourhood", she said," I pulled up in a farmer's back garden." As word of her flight spread, she quickly became a celebrity, and was nicknamed 'queen of the air'.

Three months later, Earhart completed the flight and broke the women's transcontinental speed record, flying 2,447.8 miles in 19 hrs 5 min. however, she was not satisfied. In June 1937, she began an attempt to circle the globe, and became the first person to fly from the red sea to India. But on 2 July, her plane vanished. After leaving New Guinea, Amelia and her co-pilot had lost communication with land and were never seen again.
