Grade 10 (First Period) Student's Book & Workbook AdaptationExpository Writing Activities (Unit 1) S. B – p.16

There are many eating places in Kuwait. Some of them serve healthy food, whereas others serve fast food.

Plan and write an essay of 12 sentences (140 words), showing the differences between eating places, with regard to the ingredients and ways of cooking.

W.B – p.9

A sound mind is in a sound body. To have a healthy body, you should eat healthy food.

Plan and write an essay of 12 sentences (140 words) about the benefits of a balanced diet on our health.

Nothing is better than having the right food. Having the right food leads to a healthy lifestyle. There are many types of foods we can have to lead a healthy life.

Food and drinks, which contain antioxidants, are so good for our bodies. Antioxidants help combat diseases like cancer and arthritis. In addition, they lower the cholesterol and improve the general immune system. We can find antioxidants in green tea.

We should have the RDA of food elements like fats, carbohydrates, proteins, fibres, iron, vitamins and water. We should drink a lot of water to avoid dehydration. Also, we should avoid fast foods, fizzy drinks and saturated fats.

All in all, a healthy diet takes planning, and a food pyramid can be a helpful tool. It is said that "we are what we eat".

(Unit 4) S.B – p.39

Computer games are a means of entertainment for both teenagers and adults. They might also have bad effects.

Plan and write an essay of 12 sentences (140 words), explaining the positive and negative effects of computer games.

Computer games have become more realistic and naturalistic and day after day, they become more convoluted. People of all ages enjoy playing computer games. They have good as well as bad effects.

Playing computer games can develop their imagination and modern computer games used in gyms can make them healthier and fitter. The new type of joysticks used in games can improve the level of fitness as players can build up their muscles.

On the other hand, playing computer games for a long time wastes time and leads to many health problems like back pain , eye pain and headache . That is why parents of teenagers do not want their children to spend too much time playing computer or video games. They also say these games make them idle and out of shape.

All in all, it is now clear that these games have two faces one good and one bad. We need to use them properly to avoid their bad effects.

Unit 5 Paralympics

Disability is not in man's body it is just a negative thought

Plan and write an essay of 12 sentences (140 words), explaining what Kuwait has done for the disabled & what our and the government's roles are towards the disabled

The Paralympic Games are sports events for disabled people. It is an international competition with its own set of rules. It is important because it draws people's attention to the disabled. They also give power and self-confidence to disabled athletes.

Kuwait is a spearhead among the Arab countries in these sports. Kuwait has done a lot to encourage and motivate the disabled. It built a sports club for them. This club has more than 1,500 members. There is a digital screen and a Physiotherapy section.

To be a sports champion, you need to learn many skills. Motivation and feedback are two main factors any athlete needs. There are also some important skills needed to athletes, whatever their abilities; patience, sacrifice, and self-discipline, stamina and strong will are some of them.

All in all, it is now clear that The Paralympics are very important. They give a chance for the disabled to take an active part in the society.

Is it important for countries to protect animals and wild birds in the modern world? The answer is a strong Yes. The wild should be preserved so we do not lose any more precious creatures. Wild life in general is essential for our life, so losing them means losing life itself.

There are many threats to the existence of animals. People hunt rare animals and use pesticides. Furthermore, forest fires, carbon monoxide from cars, buses, and motorbikes, building roads through the forests and cutting trees contribute to their disappearance. We all share the responsibility towards the disappearance of animals and birds. Cutting trees and man's behavior towards nature leads to pollution, animal extinction and global warming.

The governments and The WWF should prevent the wild life (the natural world) from destruction. We can help protecting wild animals in many ways; by looking after birds, providing running, or dripping water, removing dangerous toxins from the area, collecting money or turning wastelands into a home for animals.

Kuwait plays an important role in protecting rare animals and birds. Al-Jahra Pools Nature Reserve is one of the reserves Kuwait has built to care for these animals. It has become a safe place for birds.

SUMMARY MAKING

If you can't imagine your life without social media, that's a sign that you've fallen a victim to the evil power of social networking. It also means that you've experienced one (or more) of the negative effects of social media on society.

Don't pretend you've never heard of these.

While social media can have a positive impact too, that doesn't mean it's all hearts and flowers. Unfortunately, social networking sites such as Facebook and Twitter a force for good or evil? As with most questions there are multiple angles to approach this quandary from. Let's explore the darker side of social media and exactly how (and why) it's bad for you. You'll be surprised to learn the negative effects of social media are both physical and mental. It can change your perception of the world and yourself, and not always for the better. In fact, you're more likely to report poor mental health, including symptoms of anxiety and depression. Spending too much time on social media can lead to poor sleep. Numerous studies have shown that increased use of social media has a negative effect on your sleep quality. In addition, kids become socially isolated and lose family communication. Children spur aggressive behavior as they play many violent games and gain aggressive behaviors.

- In four sentences of your own write an answer to the following question:

What are the bad effects of social networks?

SUMMARY MAKING

Over the past couple of decades, advancing technology has revolutionized the world. The evolution of technology has constantly had a massive impact on the human race at every stage of societal development. Modern world is unimaginable without things such as electricity, computers, vehicles, and much more. There have been many monumental discoveries in the past that have changed the landscape of our society forever.

It is certain that much of our progress is due to scientific discoveries. The invention of aeroplanes and motor-cars has led to a great progress in our means of transport. They are speedy and comfortable means. People now can travel from one place to another in a very short time. Thus we have saved much of our time and trouble. The progress of science has led to a noticeable advance in industry. Modern machines are used in factories to produce manufactured goods in great quantities. This has helped us to get our needs of everyday life at a cheap price. Even an ordinary man can now get a TV, a laptop and a mobile phone easily.

In four sentences of your own, show how modern technology and science play an important role in our lives.

Reading comprehension

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

1- My first few logins into Facebook had been cautious and brief. It had been a guilty pleasure - an enjoyable escape. But over two years, I'd turned into a Facebook beast, uploading over 30 photograph albums weekly, posting countless ridiculous status updates and acquiring hundreds of fake online "friends." People posted anything and everything, surrendering their own privacy and that of their friends. I'd felt something akin to separation anxiety if I ever found myself offline for more than a few hours.

2- The turning point came when I completely forgot about a long-planned reunion with a friend one evening because I had been engaged into mindless Facebook chatting. This is ridiculous, I thought. Surely social networking was supposed to enhance my social life, not to trash it! I should have realized that quite earlier and I told myself that I'd managed perfectly well pre-Facebook and resolved to return to simpler times. I would still keep in touch with people I liked. I had a mobile phone and I was perfectly capable of sending an e-mail or penning a letter. And so I decided to deactivate. It only took a few clicks and was pretty painless.

3. Facebook demanded to know why I'd left; but my mind had been made up. I wanted to see if I could cope without - for at least a week. It gave me the option to return at any time and resurrect my account, but I felt liberated. I was flattered that people cared about me and felt a little ache for the old Facebook camaraderie. Of course, not everyone worried about my departure - or even noticed. One of my Facebook mates was perplexed after seeing that his Facebook friend count reduced by one, but hadn't investigated who might have gone away.

Reading Comprehension

Read the following text and then answer the questions below:

Malnutrition is a dietary condition caused by a deficiency or excess of one or more essential nutrients in the diet. Malnutrition is characterized by a wide array of health problems. They include extreme weight loss, stunted growth, weakened resistance to infection, and impairment of intellect. Severe cases of malnutrition can lead to death .

For one thing, deficiency diseases result from inadequate intake of the major nutrients. These deficiencies can result from eating foods that lack critical vitamins and minerals, from a lack of variety of foods, or from simply not having enough food. When the body is not given enough of any one of the essential nutrients over a period of time, it becomes weak and less able to fight infection. The brain may become sluggish and react slowly. The body taps its stored fat for energy, and muscle is broken down to use for energy. Eventually the body withers away, the heart ceases to pump properly, and death occurs.

Although malnutrition is more commonly associated with dietary deficiencies, it also can develop in cases where people have enough food to eat, but they choose foods low in essential nutrients. This is the more common form of malnutrition in most developed countries. When poor food choices are made, a person may be getting an adequate amount of calories each day, yet still be undernourished. For example, low intake of calcium is directly related to poor quality bones and increased fracture risk, especially in the elderly.

A diet of excesses may also lead to other nutritional problems. Obesity is the condition of having too much body fat. It has been linked to life-threatening diseases including diabetes, heart problems, and some forms of cancer. Eating too many salty foods may contribute to high blood pressure, an often-undiagnosed condition that causes the heart to work too hard and puts strain on the arteries.

High blood pressure can lead to strokes, heart attacks, and kidney failure. A diet high in cholesterol and fat, particularly saturated fat, is the primary cause of atherosclerosis, which results when fat and cholesterol deposits build up in the arteries, causing a reduction in blood flow .

A . Choose the best answer from a , b , c or d :

Reading Comprehension

Read the following text and then answer the questions below:

Tom Drakes had strange ideas of fun. His favourite way of amusing himself was to annoy other people. But the day of the fire was the day he learnt his lesson. In some parts of the town where Tom lived there were fire alarms in the streets. You had to break the glass and turn a handle; that was all, and then the firemen came to put out the fire. Tom would start one of these alarms and then enjoy watching the fire engines as they raced down the street looking for the fire. He used to hide behind a wall at the corner of the street and laugh as the firemen discovered that there was no fire and got back angrily on to their engines.

Tom told some of his friends at school about the fun he was having and the result was that there were soon boys all over the town who went about starting false alarms of fires. In the holidays Tom liked to do chemistry experiments in his bedroom. One day there was an accident He was using a burner to heat some liquid, when suddenly he knocked it over, and in a few moments his bed was on fire. Tom saw immediately that firemen would be needed to put the fire out. At top speed he ran downstairs and out of the house and along the street to the corner where the fire alarm stood. There for a moment his heart stopped beating; it was broken. Tom turned to look back at his house.

Black smoke was beginning to climb up from his bedroom window. He stood by the fire alarm, not knowing what to do. It seemed that his home was about to be burnt down perhaps because of a trick which some other foolish boy had learnt from him!

At the sound of a clanging bell his fear changed suddenly to hope. Yes, it really was the fire engine that came racing down the road! Although he never discovered who started the alarm, he knew he was luckier than he deserved to be. by chance, an unknown boy's silly trick had had useful result.

IV - Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage, and then answer the questions below:

Racing is one of the most popular forms of entertainment in the world today. However, not all racing is the same and each different type of racing requires specific qualities. Formula one racing is one of the most competitive sports in the world. Although people think they are good drivers, the racers who take part in formula one take driving to a whole new level. They travel at breakneck speeds, often reaching over 350 kph, driving around courses that are often hard to navigate. The cars they drive are incredibly expensive and need constant work and repairs.

A formula one driver is usually backed up by a team up to 20 engineers, mechanics and specialists, so formula one driver need to be able to work well with other people and have great interpersonal skills. However, when they are racing they can only rely upon themselves and so they also have to be independent and sure of themselves. Formula one racing , despite all the safety precautions, can also be dangerous because the speed of the cars is so fast and they race so close together .Formula one drivers need to be very courageous and always determined to win.

We also have marathon racing. It was named after a famous battle in marathon. In Ancient, after the battle, a messenger ran 42 km from the battlefield to Athens and this is why the race is the distance it is today. Marathon runners are some of the hardest working athletes in the world. Marathon runners have to work for recognition just as hard as sprinters, and they run for hours, not seconds.

Although marathon runners have personal trainers, they aren't allowed to assist the runners whilst they are as they need to have an extraordinary level of will power, incredible amounts of stamina and tremendous endurance just to keep going over the 42 km. Marathon racing is not for glory-seekers as marathon runners receive less media attention than other athletes such as sprinters, cyclists and swimmers. Marathon runners are often very modest, even though they are completely committed to their event.

IV - Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage, and then answer the questions below:

If you have been reading fairy stories, you may believe that all wolves are harmful, and evil. They eat children, sheep and other small animals. They are aggressive and won't stop until they get what they want. There really isn't anything good to say about wolves. Or is there? Are wolves just misunderstood?

Wolves are actually nothing like the characters described in fairy stories. While it is true that their diet consists of deer, rabbits, and other small animals, wolves would never attack children just for the sake of eating. Wolves have been known to attack people when they threaten them. This happens only rarely. Wolves are usually pretty shy animals. They stay within their own land and protect their own pack (group).

Wolves are meat eaters, and they must hunt to get their food. They are strong and fast and have sharp teeth. They use their sense of smell to find prey. Wolves hunt in packs and chase their prey until it gets tired. They usually hunt the weakest, slowest animal in a group. Wolves are not cruel; they are just good hunters.

Some wolves, such as the red wolf, are near extinction. Their homes are steadily disappearing as people spread their own homes further into the wilderness. Wolves have also been hunted extensively. Ranchers and farmers pose another threat to wolves. They become angry when wolves come onto their property and eat their chickens and sheep. This is a serious problem, because the farmers lose their animals, and the wolves get shot by the angry farmers. No one wins in this battle.

Wolves are an important part of the balance of nature. They hunt weak animals and help keep down the population of some animals such as deer. In many countries, it is now against the law to hunt wolves. Many zoos and scientists are working hard to protect wolves because they understand just how important and misunderstood they really are.

VII- Summary Making(60 Marks)

Read the following passage, then do as required:

Rooftop gardens provide many of the same benefits as other urban park and garden spaces, but without taking up the much-needed land. Like parks, rooftop gardens help to replace carbon dioxide in the air with nourishing oxygen, to reduce the choking air that people are continuously breathing. They also help to lessen the Urban Heat Island Effect, which can save people money. In the summer, rooftop gardens prevent buildings from absorbing heat from the sun, which can significantly reduce cooling bills. In the winter, gardens help hold in the heat that materials like brick and concrete radiate so quickly, leading to savings on heating bills. Rooftop vegetable and herb gardens can also provide fresh food for city dwellers, saving them money. These vegetables make their diets healthier and so they rarely pay for the doctors. Rooftop gardens are not only something everyone can enjoy, they are also a smart environmental investment.

In not less than four sentences of your own, write about how rooftop gardens can save city dwellers' money. (4X15 =60 Marks)
