LISTENING

Lecturer: My talk today is an introduction to the law, law- making, and legal systems. First of all, can anyone tell me what the law is?

Student 1: It's the collection of rules of a country, isn't it?

Lecturer: That's right. My definition is this; the law is the code or set of rules which govern all individuals and organizations in society. Although different countries have codes of law, some actions have always been crimes almost everywhere; can you suggest an action of this kind?

Student 2: How about theft?

Lecturer: Yes, that's certainly one, and of course murder is another. Another basic principle of most systems of law is that a person is innocent until someone proves that they are guilty. Okay, so what do you know about the history of law –making? Does anyone know when the earliest code of law was established?

Student 3: Was it about two and a half thousand years ago?

Lecturer: No , it was much earlier than that . The earliest code of law we know about was established nearly 4000 years ago by the Middle Eastern ruler Hammurabi. This consisted of 282 laws which governed the family, work, personal property and trade. Since then, every country has developed its own code of law over hundreds or thousands of years. Let's move on. Can someone tell me who makes laws?

Student 4: Governments make laws, don't they?

Lecturer: That's right, in modern societies, governments make laws and the police and judges enforce them. In some countries juries made up of members of the public, decide whether an accused person is innocent or guilty. In most systems there are three main types of law. Firstly, the one that people know most about: criminal law which deals with murder and other acts of violence and crimes against property such as theft, the second type is the civil law which deals with a wide range of actions from arguments between neighbours to the behavior of large companies. And can anyone tell me what the third type of law is?

Student 5: Is it personal law?

Lecturer: Not quite, it's family law which is concerned mainly with family relationship: marriage, adoption and the welfare of children. As I'm sure you are aware, the law affects every area of people's daily lives from driving their cars to paying tax. But to work effectively laws must be backed by penalties and punishments imposed by courts. So, for example, individuals who have committed murder or theft are sent to prison. But what would be a typical punishment for someone who had done something less serious, say someone who has damaged their neighbour's property.

Student 6 : They usually have to pay a fine, don't they?

Student 7: More people would behave badly if we didn't have laws, wouldn't they?

Lecturer: That's right. The simple truth is this: Without laws there would be chaos.

Reading Comprehension

-Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Some people believe that minor issues shouldn't prevent the legal system from operating and the court should be the last resort. But does this belief apply on my case? Last year, I decided to spend my holiday in Italy. I went to The Falcon Travel agency to book a ship ticket. I went to Italy by ship because it's cheaper and more interesting than a plane. We arrived at Napoli's Harbour after seven days at sea. I liked the journey very much, especially the weather which was calm and pleasant during the whole journey. But seven days of my holiday were lost.

I stayed in Napoli for five days. Then I decided to travel to Rome to enjoy the beautiful sights of Italy. So, I took a compartment for myself in a train. I bought a detective story to spend my time reading it. While I was reading, two women opened the door and came in.

" May we join you?" said one of them. "All the compartments are full and we are harmless". So, I asked them to stay without making any noise. I went on reading until I fell asleep.

The sudden stop of the train woke me up. We've arrived at Rome's Station. The two women weren't there and also my suitcase. The two women were thieves. All my travelers' cheques and my passport were in my suitcase. I only had a little money. What should I do? Should I go back to the hotel and ask the manager for advice? I thought for a while then I remembered my friend's advice.

I immediately went to the police station. There, a giant policeman asked me "Do you wish to report the theft of an article or the loss of it? I didn't understand his formal language." Sorry sir. I was riding the 8 o'clock train when two women stole my belongings" I answered and gave him the description of the two ladies. Next, I went to the bank and told them about my travelers' cheques so that no one could use them and steal my money. Finally, I went to Kuwait Embassy to get a new passport. It took me seven other days to settle everything. Most of my holiday was spoiled and lost. I decided to go back to Kuwait after my vacation was spoiled. Am I going to sue the travel agency or not? Any way! It is said that "Never trust a stranger especially in a foreign country or you'll be in a big trouble.

SUMMARY MAKING

Read the following passage then summarize it in an answer to the question below:

Animals living in modern zoos enjoy several advantages over animals in the wild; however, they must suffer some disadvantages. One advantage of living in the zoo is that the animals are separated from their natural predators; they are protected and can therefore, live without risk of being attacked. Another advantage is that they are regularly fed a special, well-balanced diet; thus, they do not have to hunt for food or suffer times when food is hard to find. On the other hand, zoo animals face several disadvantages. The most important disadvantage is that since they do not have to hunt for food or face their enemies, some animals became bored, discontented or even nervous. Another disadvantage is that zoo visitors can endanger their lives. Some animals can pick up airborne diseases from humans.

to focus on the smugglers. Moreover, countries need to make laws together so there is a clear message to smugglers and immigrants. Finally, the laws need to be enforced. The last part of the solution needs to provide ways to return immigrants to their home countries. It is best if immigrants leave by choice. The foreign government might even provide assistance to help them return home. To fulfill this solution, governments should establish phone numbers where immigrants can call for help in returning to their countries. Additionally, governments need to consider each case. Sometimes, it might be better to let some people remain in the new country. For example, some immigrants cannot return home for political reasons.

Illegal immigration will continue to be a problem until economic prosperity and equality reaches every country. Until that day comes, countries must start to cooperate to establish a global solution including prevention, punishment, and the return of immigrants to their home countries.

Reading COMPREHENSION

-Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below :

Have you ever done something in anger that you later regretted? Anger is a natural response to feeling attacked or treated unfairly. Everyone gets angry sometimes; it is part of being human. It is not always a 'bad' emotion; in fact, it can sometimes be positive. For example, feeling angry about something can help us identify problems or things that are hurting us, motivate us to create change and help us defend ourselves in dangerous situations by giving us a burst of energy.

When well – managed, anger has very few health consequences. However, if it is not handled appropriately, it may have destructive results. Long- term and intense anger has been linked to mental health problems including depression and anxiety. It is also linked to poorer Overall physical health as well as particular conditions from high blood pressure to heart diseases, stroke and cancer. Long -term anger also causes problems in relationship in the family, at work and with friends.

People with assertive( حازم- حاد ) anger express their anger verbally. They express it directly and in a nonthreatening way to the person involved. Others constantly criticize everything but never address problems positively. Some people hide their anger and may harm themselves when they are angry because they find it hard to deal with their emotions. They turn against themselves and become self-critical and self-hating. They may be agitated and may physically shake, but they do not show their anger in the way they behave when they are around other people. Some people experience passive anger. Passive aggressive people tend to express their negative feelings in an indirect manner with hostility rather than stating their disapproval directly to the person concerned which makes it the most difficult communication style.

The true goal or objective of anger management is not to suppress feelings of 'anger but rather to understand the message behind the emotion and express it in a healthy way without losing control. Simple relaxation tools, such as deep breathing g and relaxing imagery can help calm down angry feelings. Identifying the reason for being angry and planning to solve the problem is another way of dealing with anger. Building trust in friends and colleagues will help us to be less angry with them when something goes wrong. Finally, the better we listen to others when they are speaking , the easier it is to find a resolution that does not involve an angry response.

VII - Summary Making (8Marks)

Read the following passage then do as required:

Your nervous system isn't very good at distinguishing between emotional and physical threats. If you're super stressed over an argument with a friend, a work deadline, your body can react just as strongly as if you're facing a true life-or-death situation.

If you tend to get stressed out frequently, as many of us do in today's demanding world, your body may be in a high state of stress most of the time and this leads to chronic stress. Chronic stress can destroy your immune system. It increases the risk of heart attack .It speeds up the aging process. It can even cause mental health problems.

In a paragraph of FOUR sentences ONLY, summarise and paraphrase the passage above in answer to the following question: ( 4x2= 8 Marks)

What are the chronic effects of stress?
